CARS FELL TO SPECTACULAR DESTRUCTION

Leader of Bedaux Expedition in Northern B.C. Gives Details of Loss

MEMBERS OF PARTY HAVE CLOSE CALLS

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (CP).—The spectacular destruction of three of the Bedaux Canadian Expedition's caterpillar cars, and the narrow escape of nine members of the expedition from probable death was detailed in a message, received today, from Charles E. Bedaux, of New York, leader of the expedition.

Two of the cars were demolished when they plunged down a mountain side, over a 300-foot cliff and into the raging waters of the Halfway River. Another was lost when it floated away on a raft with which the expedition was attempting to cross the same river.

BEATEN BY WEATHER
"Our caterpillars have been thoroughly beaten by the weather. July and August are normally the dry season in this country, but we have had rains thirty-one days of the last thirty-seven. It rains so often that it is almost impossible to get on the road. The caterpillars are being damaged by the rain, and the message said.

"When we reached the Halfway River, above the Graham River, we found it a raging fury. We attempted to avoid a crossing by skirting a mountain, but the rain-soaked earth gave way beneath two of our cars, plunging them down the mountainside over a 300-foot cliff onto the rocks in the bed of the torrent. The three occupants of each car leaped just in time.

SWAM TO SAFETY
"The Halfway River, later, claimed another car while we were attempting to transport the expedition across on a raft of thirty-five-foot spruce logs, supported by rubber pontoons. The raft broke away, and three members of the expedition.

HOSPITAL FOR BABIES OPENED

Dignitaries Carry Out Ceremonies While Quintuplets Parents in Background

CALLANDER, Ont., Sept. 14 (CP).—Giving "shyness" as their reason for the parents of the Dionne quintuplets failed to attend the opening, today, of the hospital built especially for the five daughters born to them on May 28.

Neither Olivia Dionne, his twenty-four-year-old wife, nor the children's paternal grandfather, Oliver Dionne, were present when Hon. David A. Croft turned a key that officially opened the nine-roomed structure built largely from subscriptions of money and donations of materials by manufacturers.

STAYED AT HOME
While others praised him and his wife, a hundred yards away, Olivia puttered about her barn in work clothes and mended his two-year-old son, Daniel. Mrs. Dionne stayed within the modest Dionne home all day and none of the older children, but Daniel, was in evidence.

More than three hundred persons gathered before the wide veranda on the east side of the babies' new home, to hear various dignitaries praise Dr. A. R. Dafoe, the parents and all those who have aided in keeping the most famous babies in the world alive for 109 days.

MEDICAL PRECEDENT
Dr. Alan Brown, of Toronto, one of the foremost child specialists on the continent, said Dr. Dafoe had "created a precedent in medical history" by keeping the babies alive so long. It was a most striking contribution to the profession, something that had not been done in the five hundred years of medical history.

Others who spoke were unflinching in their praise of Dr. Dafoe and the two nurses who have attended the children since they were born—Madame Louise deDerville and Miss Yvonne Leroux.

Says Rail Amalgamation Will Not Be Considered

TORONTO, Sept. 14 (CP).—Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, said, here tonight, that the Conservative Government had never discussed railway amalgamation. In an address before a meeting in support of T. L. Church, K.C., Conservative candidate in the Toronto East Federal by-election, Dr. Manion declared that the Canadian National Railway at present were making a better operating

Relics of Pagan Rites Found in Forest

Compared by scientists in archaeological importance to the monumental stones standing at Stonehenge, England, a series of stones, believed to mark the spot where Indians practised the pagan rituals of the snake dance, have been discovered in the almost inaccessible bushland of the Whiteshell Forest Reserve of Manitoba, near the Ontario-Manitoba boundary. A section of the series is shown above.

Livestock Fair Is Planned for Winter Months

Alderman T. W. Hawkins, President of Exhibition Association, Announces Proposals for Future—Cattle and Sheep Barn Annex and New Swine Pens Contemplated

A WINTER livestock fair, a new cattle barn annex, new pens for the swine, additional accommodation for sheep, and concerted action to secure fair dates in the future during the last two weeks in August are some of the plans of the B.C. Agricultural Association as announced yesterday by Alderman T. W. Hawkins, president of the organization.

"Although the present fair is not yet over, we are already making plans for next year, and we are determined to secure the fair week during the latter part of August next year, even if we have to force the issue," the alderman declared.

CONSIDER NEW FAIR
He announced the directors were considering the establishment of a winter livestock exhibition somewhat similar, but much smaller to the Toronto Winter Fair.

"We must do everything to encourage the local breeders, and I feel that such a fair would be a wonderful stimulant," Alderman Hawkins stated.

"If any new building is undertaken during the next twelve months, it must be for the accommodation of the livestock. New swine pens are absolutely necessary, and we already have several locations in mind which would be more suitable than the present location, and make the entries more accessible to the public. Some of the cattle had to be housed under a canvas roof this year, many more.

Drops From Skies Into Lions' Den

CHESSINGTON, England, Sept. 14 (AP).—Ben Turner, parachute jumper, floated smoothly down from Surrey's skies this afternoon to land safely—smack in the lion's den.

Suspended precariously on the bars atop the cage, Turner's emotions were to put it mildly—mixed, as two full grown, growling beasts leaped time and time again at his legs, just out of their reach.

Firemen manned hoses to quiet the animals and trainers fired pistols, driving the lions to the corner of the cage, while Turner unharmed himself and clambered down to safety.

FIVE CHARGED WITH SETTING EXPLOSIONS

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 14 (AP).—Five striking street car men and a former employee of the Spokane United Railway Company were charged today with dynamiting electric power poles and placing dynamite on street cars.

The pole was dynamited Monday night and the explosive was discovered by operators of two cars. Tuesday night, before damage had been done.

Others who spoke were unflinching in their praise of Dr. Dafoe and the two nurses who have attended the children since they were born—Madame Louise deDerville and Miss Yvonne Leroux.

Organized Labor in Showdown Fight for Test of Its Powers

Number of U.S. Textile Strikers Idle Estimated at Over 400,000

JOHNSON CHARGING BREACH OF FAITH

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP).—President Roosevelt traveled toward the textile strike's most turbulent area, tonight, with indications that any new eruptions of violence would lead to direct intervention on his part.

The national strike committee here, meanwhile, appealed to transport workers to bulwark their struggle by refusing to handle textile shipments. The request went to longshoremen and stevedores of the Atlantic Coast.

TESTING OF STRENGTH
More and more the great walk-out took on the appearance of a showdown fight between industry and the American Federation of Labor. To some it appeared that the textile war, before it ended, would furnish a real test of organized labor's strength under the National Recovery Act.

The number of strikers idle was estimated by an independent survey during the day at slightly more than 400,000.

Bound by yacht for Newport, R.I., to watch the international yachting races, Mr. Roosevelt had scheduled conferences there, tomorrow, with George Dern, Secretary for War, and Major-General Fox O'Connor, commanding the Second Corps Area.

START BATTLE WITH FLAMES

Smoke Pours From Hold of British Freighter as Hatch Is Removed

BALBOA, C.Z., Sept. 14 (AP).—Fire and smoke bursting forth as the hatch cover of the British freighter Bradburn was removed late today, led port authorities to take hurried precautions to protect other shipping in the harbor.

A "Zone" tug tied up to sea if the ship, ready to tow her to sea if the blaze increased. The docks in the immediate vicinity of the freighter were closed to traffic.

DENSE SMOKE CLOUDS
Dense clouds of smoke poured from the Bradburn's hatch, three ventilators, the crew's quarters and the quarterdeck.

Firemen, after abandoning earlier efforts to quench the flames with steam under pressure, decided to use water despite the danger of ruining the cargo of cotton aboard.

A few bales of cotton were removed from the upper No. 2 hold and smoke immediately belched forth.

SIZZLES ON DECKS
Three lines of water were turned on the vessel, the water sizzling as it hit the decks. Firemen had to stand on planks, so hot was the footing.

Racing 550 miles back to Balboa after the fire was discovered in her hold, the Bradburn tied up at Balboa docks this afternoon with her cargo of cotton smoldering stubbornly.

Victoria Occupies Splendid Position For Storage Plant

Fishing Corporation Appreciates Advantages of City's Location For Export Trade—Stores Quantities of Salmon Here in Bond

"THE landing of 500,000 pounds of frozen fish at the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse is further proof that this port occupies an advantageous position in the handling of export commodities," Duncan MacBride, the manager, told a representative of The Colonist at Ogden Point yesterday, as the crates of fish were swung ashore from the steam schooner Donna Lane and being rushed into the cool chambers of the local plant.

"This is the first occasion on this Coast that salmon caught in Alaskan waters," Mr. MacBride continued, "has been processed on the fishing grounds. The Donna Lane was chartered, and a buyer representing the charter party, a big fish corporation of New York with many subsidiaries in the United States and Canada, had charge of the buying, obtaining the catches from the fishermen as they overhauled their nets. The fish were cleaned immediately and processed on the Donna Lane, which is really a floating cold storage plant."

OPENS NEW FIELD
Processing Canadian caught fish for the same company here for some time past, Mr. MacBride was able to secure this new business, which gives every indication of expanding in the future, he said, the inauguration of this method of taking care of the fish so soon after nets.

Salvation Army Leader Greeted

New York Welcomes General Evangeline Booth on Return From High Council Meeting

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP).—Welcome first, today, by an airplane that peeped the decks of the liner Leviathan with red roses, General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army was honored then by hands of her followers in tugboats, by bands, parades and finally by Mayor F. H. La Guardia, at city hall.

General Booth, who was commander of the Army for thirty years in the United States, returned from London, where she was elected to the highest command at the recent high council meeting.

General Booth will have charge of Salvation Army workers in eighty-six countries. She expects to spend much time next winter in Australia and New Zealand, leading an evangelistic campaign.

U.S. CUTTERS SPEED AFTER FISHING BOAT

Japanese Crew Alleged to Have Attacked Philippine Peace Officers

OTHER INCIDENTS OF VIOLATION CHARGED

MANILA, Sept. 15 (AP).—Hot in pursuit of a Japanese fishing boat whose crew reportedly attacked and robbed three Philippine peace officers on American soil, two United States revenue cutters were speeding through the China Sea today.

The cutter Bantaw was reported directly on the trail early this morning, but details of the chase were lacking because the cutter could not be reached here by radio. The Arayat was the other cutter in the pursuit.

Both American vessels were equipped with deck guns. The fleeing boat, Hayun Maru, a fifty-footer with a crew of twenty-four, registered as from Takao, Formosa, presumably was heading either for home or in the direction of Borneo.

"OUTRAGEOUS" ATTACK
Japanese Consul-General Kimura in Manila referred to the reported attack as "outrageous," but expressed the belief that the men in the fleeing ship were not his countrymen. He sent a message to the U.S. Navy to check the identity of the vessel. The Japanese official said he would co-operate with Philippine authorities.

B.C. IMPROVES FISCAL HOPES

Betterment of Million Seen in Current Operations for Present Year

Through departmental economies and material improvement in some forms of revenue, British Columbia will improve its position in respect to current operations by approximately $1,000,000 this year, it was intimated yesterday by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance. This, as announced by Premier Pattullo at Vancouver on Wednesday, will reduce borrowings from the Federal Government from an anticipated $10,000,000 to $9,000,000 for the fiscal period.

While no express statement was made on the point, it is understood that lumber, mining, liquor profits and motor revenues, as well as some forms of direct taxation have improved this year. Lumber, from which the Province derives a considerable revenue, has enjoyed a material return from the extreme lows of 1932 and 1933. Mining, from which less direct revenue is had, has also been stimulated, with beneficial results in indirect receipts to the Province.

ECONOMIES HELP
As against this, some other forms of revenue have not yet responded to a general upward trend. Part of the net improvement in current account comes from reorganization.

WHINING OF DOG WARNS OF FIRE

Incendiarism Suspected as Cause of Blaze at Chilliwack Warehouse and Shed Burned

CHILLIWACK, Sept. 14 (CP).—Incendiarism is suspected by police as the cause of a fire which completely destroyed the Sarda warehouse of the Brackman-Ker Milling Co., Ltd., and the adjoining freight shed of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. with an estimated damage of more than $4,000.

The railway station across the tracks was saved only through the strenuous efforts of volunteer fire fighters. The stock in the warehouse was light.

The fire was discovered when the whining of a dog awoke the caretaker and his family in the station.

Royal Family of Austria To Return to Old Castle

(Copyright, 1934, by the Associated Press)

BRUSSELS, Sept. 14.—The Hapsburgs, at long last, are going home to Austria.

Sources close to the royal family that once ruled the mighty empire of Austria-Hungary, said, tonight, that former Empress Zita, widow of the late Emperor Charles I, who lost his throne in the upheaval that followed the Great War, expects to be living in Austria by Christmas.

Preparations are already under way at Steenkerck Castle here, for the return of Zita and her eight children, including Archduke Otto, the Hapsburg pretender to the throne of Austria and Hungary.

Permission has been granted the family, it was understood, to reside in Austria as plain, ordinary citizens of that present-day republic.

Requests Survey of Sanitary Conditions In Saanich District

Officials of Victoria Sanitary Heating and Ventilation Association Presents Brief to Premier and Members of Cabinet—Urge Commission

RECOMMENDING the appointment of a voluntary public health commission to make an immediate report of the sanitary conditions of the municipality of Saanich, complete reorganization of the Provincial Department of Health and the removal of the provincial health officer from the sphere of politics, officials of the Victoria Sanitary Heating and Ventilation Association yesterday filed a brief with Premier Pattullo and members of the Provincial Cabinet.

Similar recommendations have been sent to medical men of the city, the mayor of Victoria and the reeve of the surrounding municipalities. Copies of the brief are also being forwarded to the Rockefeller Foundation and the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

HEALTH CONDITIONS

The health conditions prevailing in the municipality of Saanich have been brought to the attention of the Victoria City Council on numerous occasions, but no action was taken because it was considered the question was one for the Provincial authorities and the municipality itself to deal with.

The brief submitted by the above-named association, which exists for the protection of public health, is the first direct request for a survey and, according to reports, is almost certain to receive the support of the municipalities comprising Greater Victoria.

EXISTING DANGERS

The brief points out the dangers allegedly existing in the Saanich areas, due to lack of proper sewage disposal system. Referring to the use of septic tanks and cess-pits, the brief says: "According to the density of population the effluent from these sources will be concentrated more or less in the land. In such districts, if the rainfall is fairly constant, there will only be a small rise and fall of the subsoil water level, but sufficient to eject poisonous gases, thus causing seasonal epidemics of milder fever which have in the past, on due inquiry by us, been found to synchronize with periodic climatic variations affecting the subsoil water level. There being no sewage system in these districts, the soil has become saturated with sewage."

ACTION IN SOILS

"It will be remembered that last Fall and Winter we experienced abnormal rainfalls amounting to flood

Air Photo of Burning Ship

This unusual view of the tragedy liner, Morro Castle, was snapped off the New Jersey Coast from a plane. Photographer and pilot risked lives in fog to seek the vessel. The rescue ship, Monarch of Bermuda, is seen in the distance.

BANNED POLISH USED ON SHIP

Highly Inflammable Material Aboard Morro Castle Contrary to Law

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (CP).—Surreptitious use of highly-inflammable metal polish, banned by maritime law, aboard the cruise ship Morro Castle, was described today at the Department of Commerce investigation into the ship's fatal fire.

William O'Sullivan, Morro Castle storekeeper, was asked: "Was there liquid cleaning polish used on that ship?" "There was." "Was it highly inflammable?" "Very." "Was it known to those in authority?" "It was used around the bridge."

CONFLICTING TIMES

The inquiry heard John Kempf, New York City fireman, a passenger on the fire-ravaged vessel, declare he was positive he smelled smoke as early as 12:45 a.m., E.S.T., although officers' reports had fixed the start of the blaze at two hours later.

The investigation was recessed until Monday, and Dickerson N. Flood, head of the inquiry, left for Washington. He said evidence showed the necessity of building ships fireproof throughout.

O'Sullivan testified that the illegal polish had a "strong smell of benzene" and that "it was commonly used by the stewards' department."

The storekeeper, declaring the banned liquid was not included in the official ship's stores, asserted the fire's rapid spread was assisted by the inflammable polish and paints.

TO STAND TRIAL AT FALL ASSIZES

Timothy Sargood Accused of Murdering Dr. A. P. Proctor—Doctors Give Evidence at Hearing

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14 (CP).—Charged with the murder of Dr. A. P. Proctor, chief medical officer in Vancouver for the Canadian Pacific Railway, Timothy A. Sargood, former locomotive fireman, was committed by Magistrate W. M. McKay at his preliminary hearing, today, to stand trial at the Fall Assizes, here.

Proctor was shot while in his office, on August 3, and died in the hospital seventeen days later. Sargood had been confined to the hospital since then until today, suffering from a severe bullet wound in the head, which police allege was self-inflicted.

Under cross-examination, Dr. A. W. Hunter, coroner's physician, testified that Sargood is suffering from Paget's disease, which had caused a thickening of the bones. He further testified that it sometimes caused thickening of the skull bones, but stated that he had never had experience with a case in which the skull had thickened to such an extent that it had caused pressure on the brain.

Dr. K. D. Pantone, police surgeon, declared that the disease had not created a pressure on Sargood's brain, but said that in an advanced stage of the disease the sufferer was likely to become very despondent.

B.C. IMPROVES FISCAL HOPES

On capital account the Province still has a difficult road to follow. Unfunded debt at November was placed in the neighborhood of $18,000,000. Federal advances for emergency outlays this year, while partly interlocking, will add to the amount, while bond provision for the proposed new toll bridge over the Fraser River has yet to be taken into account. Sinking funds were passed up in part in the previous years, and budgetary provision for the amount was also excluded this year. Some of the amount, in loans to municipalities, is recoverable.

The gap in estimated expenditures on current account and probable income, however, will be shortened by $1,000,000, it is estimated, and there is prospect of a budget surplus in respect to current operations next year.

Meanwhile, sources of taxation are under a triple review, involving Federal, Provincial and municipal.

HAS NO MERCY ON KIDNAPPERS

Judge Sentences Three to Life Without Possibility of Parole

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14 (AP).—Warning kidnappers to abandon all hope of consideration in California, Superior Court Judge William C. Doran, today, sentenced a woman and two men to serve the rest of their lives behind state prison walls "without the possibility of parole."

The three, sentenced to San Quentin prison, are Ida May Alameda, Floyd Britton and C. R. Russell. They pleaded guilty to participating in the robbery and kidnapping of John Jesse, companion and chauffeur of the late Lon Chaney, film character actor, and his bride, when they were honeymooning at a mountain resort near here July 15.

OTHER SENTENCES

Two others of the kidnap gang to admit their guilt, George Dorsey and Manuel Cordova, were sentenced to serve from seven years to life in Folsom penitentiary without possibility of parole under seven years' time.

Accused of being "the finger for gangland" by pointing out the Jeskes as having an $8,000 diamond ring given them by Chaney's widow a few weeks before her death, Lyn-den Parker and his wife, Joy, are on trial here now before jury.

Alameda, "in addition" to her one life sentence without "possibility of parole," was given two seven-year-of-life sentences on robbery counts. Her sentence to San Quentin was technical. Actually she is scheduled to live—and eventually die—in the women's prison at Tehachapi.

RUN CONSECUTIVELY

Dorsey drew four and Cordova two seven-year-to-life sentences "to run consecutively," on robbery counts, and it is doubted, court attaches add, if either will ever emerge from behind prison walls.

U.S. CUTTERS SPEED AFTER FISHING BOAT

The alleged attack occurred in Palawan Province, September 11. Palawan is the westernmost island of the Philippine archipelago, southwest of Manila.

Telegrams from Governor Higinio Mendoza, of Palawan, and other officials, said two members of the Philippine constabulary and a police sergeant had been attacked by men on the Hayan Maru when the trio went aboard to inspect her traps and see that she was conforming to regulations.

RESCUED BY AMERICAN

The three men were cut, beaten, and thrown over the side as they seized the ship's log book, advised said. An American, known only as London, rescued the trio.

The officers had gone aboard the boat at Balabac in line with the regular policy of carefully investigating all small foreign craft entering Philippine waters.

For several years Japanese boats have been reported violating customs, fishing, marine and forestry regulations. In some instances the Japanese were reported to have intimidated islanders who attempted to interfere.

CONSTABULARY DISARMED

In the Batanes Islands, 100 miles from Formosa, Philippine constabulary soldiers once were reported to have been disarmed by a party of Japanese. Revenue cutters occasionally have found the Japanese equipped with geodetic instruments and with maps of the Philippine constabulary regions.

The Batanes incident occurred during the administration of Governor-General Theodore Roosevelt.

IMPRESSED WITH GERMAN PROMISE

Baptists Guaranteed Liberty by Dr. Muller—Observer Notes Deep Loyalty to Hitler

That the Baptist communion secured within Germany more publicity than ever before, is one of the comments made by the secretary, Dr. J. H. Rushbrooke, concerning the recent congress held at Berlin. Numerous articles concerning Baptist history and ideas were published before the convention met, although very little was said concerning the debates and resolutions.

Dr. Rushbrooke lays considerable stress upon the signed statement of Dr. Ludwig Muller, the Reichsbishop of the German Church, as follows: "There is no question of a compulsory incorporation of the Baptist churches in the Reichskirche." This, he holds, guarantees freedom to this, and, it is inferred, to the other free churches in Germany.

One correspondent was impressed with the loyalty to Hitler of Dr. F. W. Bimoliet, the German vice-president of the congress. "He mentioned his very name—his leader—with deepest emotion," states the observer.

SPLENDID POSITION FOR STORAGE PLANT

they have been taken from the water, opening up an entirely new field in the prosecution of the industry.

These frozen fish are being placed in freezing chambers of the plant at Ogden Point, and will be kept there subject to export demand. Mr. MacBride stated there was a bright future for this export of frozen salmon from Victoria. Next Monday the freighter Montevideo is due at the local cold storage dock to lift 30,000 pounds of frozen salmon for Havre.

Regarding export of apples from the local plant this season, Mr. MacBride appeared most optimistic. He had just returned from the Okanagan, he said, and had made arrangements while there for handling considerable fruit. This had already started to arrive. He thought that there would be a fairly heavy movement of fruit to Victoria.

FAIR HELPS IN BREEDING

Provides Incentive to Develop Higher Quality, Says Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie

"I have noticed with great pleasure the tremendous improvement in the livestock at the exhibition. You men are performing a great service indeed by supporting the fair. It is reflected back on the farms. You are doing a very excellent thing. Pairs have played an important part in raising the standard of stock, and will continue to do so," Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie declared when addressing the annual luncheon of stockbreeders at the Willows fair, yesterday.

"It is getting to be an annual pleasure, addressing these gatherings as I have done for some years now. It is fifty-two years ago since I attended the first exhibition. There were only two Short-horns in the show then, and I chaperoned one of them. I slept between the two at night, and both the cows seemed proud of their voices," Dr. Tolmie said, in a reminiscent vein.

PAYS TRIBUTE

The speaker paid tribute to the splendid support given the fair by the United States entries, and then referred to horse breeding and the horse ring.

"There is a general impression that the horse ring is full of sharpers, but believe me when I say that I have spent half my life in the horse ring, and all the sharpers are not among the horsemen. I think we could enlist a splendid band of missionaries from among the horsemen to teach other walks of life the meaning of upright dealing."

Dr. Tolmie spoke of the wonderful incentive to the improving of quality in stock that the Toronto Winter Fair had been, and the suggestion was left that a similar effort might be made in Victoria.

MAYOR'S REMARKS

Mayor David Leeming, in welcoming the stockbreeders, said that Victoria loved to welcome visitors to the city. "We are trying to develop along tourist lines, and are only too pleased to welcome you to our midst. I am indeed pleased with the large number of exhibitors we have had this year at the fair, and more particularly with the improved quality of the exhibits."

The Mayor spoke of the Braefoot estate, and its subdivision into small farms. "If we can divide large farms like this into smaller ones, I feel that by intensive cultivation we can provide a livelihood for many in the hinterland of Victoria," he asserted.

Alderman T. W. Hawkins, president of the B.C. Agricultural Association, officiated as chairman and introduced the speakers.

FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of Noah William Bates, who passed away at his home, 314 Annot Street, Thursday morning, will take place this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the Sands Mortuary, under the auspices of Columbia Lodge No. 2, I.O.O.F. Rev. Canon Stocken will officiate and the remains will be forwarded to Seattle for cremation. It is requested that no flowers be sent.

KEPT AWAKE BY BACKACHE

She Was Always Tired

TRIED KRUSCHEN—NOW FULL OF LIFE

Only those who have experienced backache can understand how painful it can be. Only they can understand the disappointment of this woman as she tried one remedy after another—only to find that they failed. And only they can appreciate her delight at now being able to write the following letter:

"I was always feeling tired, never had any energy, and could get no sleep at night, for the pain in my back. So after trying several different so-called remedies (which did me no good at all), I decided to try Kruschen Salts. I am delighted to say that I am now a different woman, full of life and energy, and free from the pain in the back."—(Mrs.) M. A.

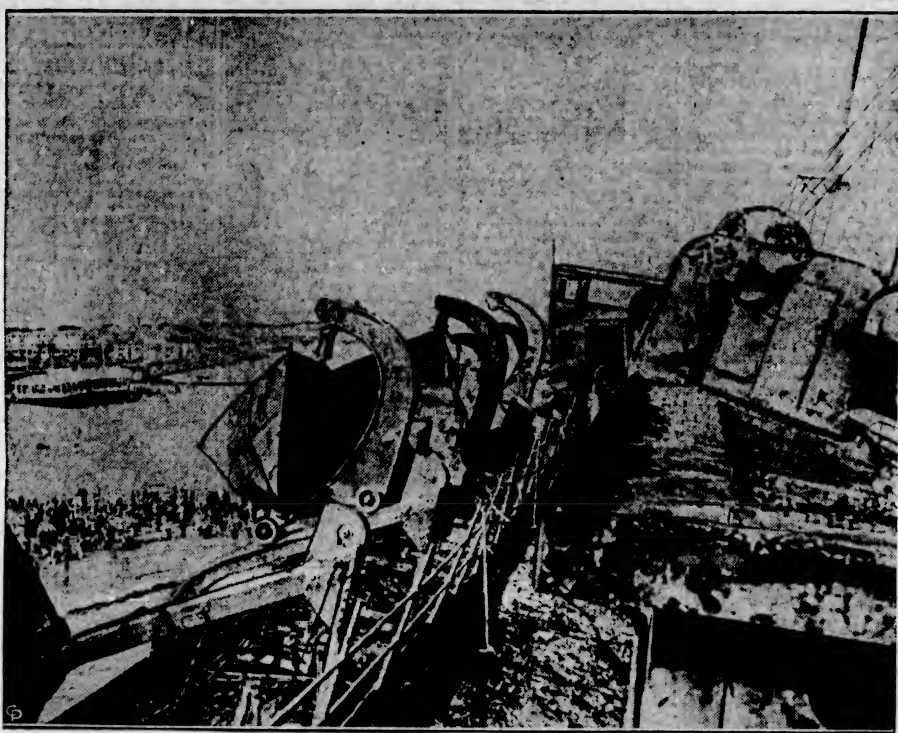

Backache is commonly caused by the kidneys becoming inactive, and allowing impurities to accumulate in the blood stream. The six salts in Kruschen will coax your kidneys back to healthy, normal action so that they will rid your blood stream of every particle of poisonous waste matter. As an immediate result you will experience joyous relief from those old, dragging pains. And as you persevere with the "little daily dose" of Kruschen, the twinges will become less and less frequent until finally your backache will be no more than the memory of a bad dream.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable at all Drug Stores at 45c. and 75c. per bottle.

Lifeboats Tell Graphic Story of Fire

Mute testimony of the fate of passengers of the fire-ravaged Morro Castle is given by this view of several lifeboats, still hanging from the twisted and warped by the heat. Effect of the terrific heat on the metal structure of the boat is also clearly shown. Rivets which once held the floors and partitions stand out like studs. As the flames reached the lifeboats, scores of passengers leaped into the turbulent sea and attempted to swim to the New Jersey Coast, eight miles distant. Many failed.

SOCIETY PLANS ANNUAL SHOWS

Horticultural Organization Arranging for Garden Festival as Well

The garden festival inaugurated so successfully this year in connection with the Spring Flower Show will be held again next year. Encouraged by the generous response of those who were approached this year to open their gardens to the public, and by the obvious appreciation shown by the public, the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association is planning to make the garden festival an annual event that will not only be a source of much pleasure and interest for citizens of Victoria, but also will be a unique attraction for visitors.

If a sufficient number of garden owners consent to open their gardens for one day during the last week of April, arrangements will be made for some to be open on one day and some on another. In this way, visitors will be able to spend several afternoons visiting the different series of gardens each day, finishing up with a visit to the great Spring Flower Show at the Willows, where specimens of all the finest and rarest flowers grown on Vancouver Island will be gathered together for exhibition and comparison.

Plans for the Flower Show and garden festival were advanced at a meeting of the executive council of the association, held by the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Milton, in the Cranleigh House School, on Wednesday last.

Other matters dealt with included the report of the recently-concluded Island garden competition. E. W. White, district horticulturist, who judged the gardens, reported that seven societies participated in the competition this year, necessitating judging of gardens in Alberni, Bamerton, Comox, Courtenay, Duncan, Ladysmith, Saanich and Victoria. Thanks were voiced to the Minister of Agriculture for the help given by the Department of Agriculture, and to Mr. White for the arduous work involved in judging the gardens.

Nanaimo was chosen as the location for the next Island Summer Show, and a committee was appointed to make preliminary plans. It is proposed to make this show a complete horticultural display, with classes for fruit and vegetables as well as flowers.

Fair Attendance Record Assured Officials State

PAID attendance figures so far this week total 25,149, as compared with 22,674 for the same period last year. It was announced last night by fair officials.

Yesterday experienced another gain over last year's figures, but only by twenty-seven. This is the smallest increase recorded this week. Today, however, a much greater crowd is expected, and with the attendance already 2,475 more than last year, a new record is assured.

NEW U.S. CONSUL ARRIVES IN CITY

Hon. Theodore Jaekel to Take Over Office Today—Declines to Be Interviewed

Fatigued after a hurried trip across the continent from New York City, Hon. Theodore Jaekel, newly-appointed United States Consul for Victoria, on arriving here from Vancouver yesterday, went immediately to his suite of rooms in the Empress Hotel. He was accompanied by his two sons. Mr. Jaekel declined to grant any interviews during the day, his only visitor being Robert M. Newcombe, United States vice-consul.

Today, Mr. Jaekel will take over the reins of office. He succeeds Hon. George A. Bucklin, who was transferred to Wellington, New Zealand, as United States Consul-General for that entire Dominion.

Mr. Jaekel, who was assigned to the Victoria post from Zurich, Switzerland, is a native son of New York City and received his education from private tutors and, later, from Williams College, from which he secured his B.A. in 1904; at Harvard University, where he spent one year, and at the New York Law School, which granted him his LL.B. in 1909.

After securing membership in the New York Bar Association, he took up the practice of law, following this profession for more than three years, 1909 to 1912. Two years after retiring from the law, he passed the necessary examinations and was appointed consul at Mankato, Minn., however, proceeded to this post, and the first position he held as consul was at Stavanger, to which he proceeded on July 17, 1914, just a few weeks before the outbreak of the war.

Rapidly he advanced up the ranks of the American consular service, ranking in 1915 as Class 9, but by the following year having been promoted to Class 8 and assigned to Bettin; by September, 1917, to Class 7, followed less than eighteen months later by his appointment to the position of Consul. The same year he was advanced to Class 6, and by March, 1923, when he was transferred to Hamburg, ranked in Class 3.

OFFICIAL DELEGATE

In 1924 he was assigned as Consul-General to Warsaw, and since then has been Consul-General at Milan (1926), Halifax (1928), Rome (1929) and Zurich.

Mr. Jaekel was an official delegate from his country to the Third International Conference on Private Aerial Law, held at Rome last year.

Oxford Group Notes

To help recapture fellowship such as the early Christians enjoyed, the women of the Oxford Group and their friends will gather on Wednesday, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Y.W.C.A. An hour's informal Bible study will be followed by tea, from 3:30 to 4 o'clock, after which a choicest team will direct the fellowship hour.

Interpreted in a modern way, the study for the day will be the first chapter of the Book of Acts. Those attending will be invited to help develop the theme, so a bit of preparation beforehand may be advisable.

St. Mathias' Hall has been secured for an open meeting at 8 o'clock on Thursday, September 20.

Tentative plans for a school of life, from September 28 to 30, are going forward. Speakers from outside points are coming, but arrangements are not yet complete.

The business men will meet at the lunch hour on Wednesday, in Spencer's dining-room. At last week's luncheon, Rev. G. A. Reynolds spoke briefly of the disturbed conditions he noted on his recent trip to Europe. Rev. Arthur Owen paid a tribute to the sterling character of the late Mrs. David Spencer, and expressed for the group members their sympathy for the Spencer family.

The fellowship in Nanaimo has appealed to Victoria for a team to assist them with work on Gabriola Island, during the week-end of September 22 and 23.

A team of eight from Victoria held a meeting at Prospect Lake on Thursday evening.

On account of the women's tea party on the afternoon of Wednesday next, there will be no meeting of the women of the Oxford Group at Suite 1, Richmond Court, that evening.

Something lively and modern in the way of Bible study will be the way of a meeting held by the women of the Oxford Group, on Wednesday afternoon, at the Y.W.C.A. As the afternoon is the women's only free time, there will be held each Wednesday, in the Y.W.C.A., commencing promptly at 2:30 o'clock, a Bible study of one hour, tea from 3:30 to 4, and fellowship until 5:15 for all women who wish to come.

Starting with the first chapter of the Acts of the Apostles, one group next Wednesday will direct the study, in which all who attend are expected to participate. Women's groups, in rotation, will have charge of the study and fellowship each Wednesday. Agnes Campbell is arranging the first tea party.

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Ian St. Clair took place, yesterday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, Lieut. Col. H. J. N. de Salis officiating. There was a large congregation of sorrowing friends present, and the profusion of beautiful floral tributes received gave mute testimony to the great esteem in which Mrs. St. Clair was held. The remains will be taken to Vancouver for cremation.

GRACE LINERS DEFINITELY OFF

E. F. Ford, Company President, Says Steamships to Drop Puget Sound Run

Victoria Chamber of Commerce has been advised by telegram from E. F. Ford, president of the Grace Line steamships, at San Francisco, that the withdrawal of steamships from the Victoria run has been definitely decided, and he regrets that nothing further can be done. Announcement of the withdrawal of the fleet of steamers was received here several days ago and the City Council, Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and other organizations opened negotiations with the officials of the company with a view to having the service retained.

NEGOTIATIONS CLOSED

The action was considered necessary because of the importance to the city of the fleet of steamers plying between the South and Victoria. Although every effort was made to secure reconsideration of the decision of the company, negotiations appeared to be finally closed by the following telegram received from Mr. Ford, last night:

"Referring to your telegram, the entire matter has been definitely decided and arranged in accordance with my telegram of yesterday, and regret to advise that nothing further can be done."

"We again wish to express to you our appreciation of the generous support afforded us by you and the business interests of Victoria."

FOR MAIL RUN

In Mr. Ford's telegram received here Thursday, he explained the Santa Lucia was built under contract with the United States Government in connection with a mail contract from New York to Valparaiso, and it is now required that the vessel be operated on that run. This action, he pointed out, leaves St. Santa Rosa, Santa Paula and Santa Elena for New York-Pacific Coast service, and to maintain the requirements of sailing every two weeks it is necessary for the steamship company to turn the vessels at San Francisco, thus terminating the Puget Sound run.

Although it was pointed out to Mr. Ford by local civic officials that a report was published in San Francisco newspapers to the effect that the Postoffice Department at Washington, D.C., had denied application of the Grace Line to transfer the Santa Lucia to the New York-Valparaiso run, the steamship president replied that all matters had been definitely decided and Victoria would not be a port of call henceforth.

Centennial Choir Had Good Year

Paul Green was re-elected president of Centennial Church choir at the annual meeting this week. Mr. Green occupied the chair, and spoke in terms of high praise of the work done by Miss Janet Hay, the secretary, during the past year.

The secretary's report showed a large enrolment and a good average attendance. Miss Mary Samuelsen presented the treasurer's report, which was most encouraging. Mr. Dilworth spoke of the courtesy and co-operation he had received from members of the choir during his term of office as librarian. Mrs. Checkley outlined the social activities of the choir for the past year. In presenting his report, Mr. Green paid glowing tribute to the excellent work done by J. W. Buckler, leader of the choir. He had been greatly impressed by the spirit of unanimity which prevailed throughout. The executive were thanked for the splendid work done, and the co-operation accorded. Mrs. Green, organist, and John Prisk, as assistant organist, were tendered a very sincere vote of thanks for their valuable work.

Mr. Dilworth acted as chairman while the elections took place. The results were as follows: Mr. Green, president; Miss Hay, secretary; Miss Samuelsen, treasurer; Mr. Dilworth, librarian; Mrs. Pendray and Miss Millar, social committee; Mrs. Trevor and Mr. Mealing, gown stewards. At the conclusion of the business, refreshments were served.

THE PROVINCIAL CREDIT

It will hardly be denied that public bodies, school corporations, municipal councils, provincial legislatures, should conduct their affairs with the prudence and caution that the ordinary citizen usually observes in his domestic and private concerns. No one would for a moment seriously argue that extravagance and dishonesty, which are everywhere condemned in individuals, are to be approved when practised by councils and legislatures. The prudent individual who, on account of ill luck or a misstep in management, finds himself running into debt, will curtail his expenses, retrace his steps if possible, exercise severe economy, and balance his budget. If he finds that he has to pay 1 per cent more for the use of money than formerly, which means that his credit has declined, he does not waste time denouncing the money-lenders, but redoubles his exertions in order to regain his former standing among his business associates. Assuredly it should be the same with legislatures and other public spending bodies.

Many of these public bodies have exhibited recklessness in spending public money, and as a consequence are now experiencing difficulty in borrowing any more. The situation in which they find themselves is unpleasant and difficult, but it is not due to bad conduct on the part of money-lenders. Anyone who thinks it is, is mixing up and confusing cause and effect. It is not high interest rates that have put our municipal and Provincial Governments into their unhappy financial position. It is the bad management and extravagance of these bodies that make it impossible for them to borrow money at low rates of interest.

Any proposal to make it possible for municipalities to refuse to pay full interest on their borrowings is, to say the least, disgusting. It is as if an extravagant father should say to his spendthrift son: "Son, I intend to pay my debts if possible and maintain my credit; but I will not pay any more of yours. When your creditors present their little bills to you, just tell them that you have decided not to pay in full and that I approve of your decision."

There can be no belief for an instant that the Provincial Government intends to give aid and countenance to any municipality which desires to break its contracts with its creditors. That is unthinkable. Were municipalities to attempt to violate the spirit and letter of their bonds, their credit would be impaired. They would end by having to be financed wholly by the Provincial Government, respecting their capital outlays, and that would mean through taxation of the people as a whole.

ANYTHING BY POST

An experience which befell the Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich has led to the discovery that the British Post Office will handle anything for transmission. A correspondent of the Bishop's sent him a caterpillar by post, which was believed to be the larva of a rare species. When it reached him in a flattened cardboard box it was accompanied by a letter from the Postal Service saying the packet was observed during transit to be in a damaged condition, and so it was forwarded to the Returned Letter Section and found to contain a small dead insect, and a few dried leaves. Moreover, it was stated that "the transmission of any living creature (except bees and leeches) by post, except with the special permission of the Postmaster-General, is prohibited."

Inquiries were made following the incident, and it transpires that where the desire is to post something unusual in the way of live matter permission has to be obtained, but there is no trouble. The British Post Office will accept individuals mailed; it will take caterpillars and any other insects. It will carry the Loch Ness monster, if it is found, weighed and stamped, at the rate of 1/4d for the first two ounces and 1/4d for each additional two ounces. It is a common thing for boys to be sent through the post, and they go at letter rate. A man posted himself recently in this way, and was taken to the address by a telegraph messenger. If a man wished to post himself to a distant part of the British Isles he would be escorted to the railway station by a postman, handed over to the care of the guard and at his destination turned over to another postman, who would take him to the desired address.

WELSH SONG AND POETRY

The offer by the Victoria Welsh Society of a silver cup to be awarded at the next Musical Festival for the best solo sung in the Welsh tongue, will provide citizens with an opportunity of hearing, in musical form, the Celtic speech. The offer is suggestive of the place that vocal expression has in Welsh tradition and life. The people of that land delight in the beauty of song and ode, of oration and sermon. For more than twenty centuries they have had their Gorseddau and Eisteddfods, national bardic congresses and musical festivals which seek to encourage music and bardism and the general literature of the race. Bards and harpers and minstrels have been the country's heroes. They crowned them, and crown them still, with trumpet and paeantry. The great day of the annual Eisteddfod is the "chair" day, the day of the adjudication on the odes and the churning and investiture of the winner. This honor is the highest object of the Welsh bard's ambition. The recent Eisteddfod gave another illustration of the national interest in music and poetry. The week of events drew an attendance of 120,000 persons. For four hours the audience that crowded the vast pavilion at Neath listened with unabated attention to the choral competition. On another day twenty thousand listeners followed closely a learned adjudication on eleven odes submitted for the chair prize, and clearly shared a thrill in anticipation of the winner's name. So spontaneous a tribute to the importance of a literary achievement, as one observer commented, would be hard to match in the world today. England draws its crowds to Kensington Oval for the Test match and to Wembley for the football final. The United States has its noisy hosts of fans that acclaim its baseball idols. For Wales its Eisteddfod, a festival of song and poetry, is still the nation's great occasion.

COMMUNISTS IN INDIA

Communism, which means autocratic power for the few and slavery for the millions, is striving vigorously to get its hold on India. No doubt it is inspired from Moscow, which sees in Indian unrest a fruitful field for that propaganda which everywhere has battered on a restless political and economic mentality. The Communist Party of India has not hesitated to make its programme public; in this respect it has more courage than its prototypes in some other countries. It is not a theoretical ideal that it has, but a working plan. It would overthrow by violence the present order of society, through combinations of strikes and armed insurrection. It seeks to spread revolutionary propaganda among soldiers and police to induce them to take part in an armed rebellion. Otherwise its programme is outlined as follows:

India's complete independence to be achieved by the overthrow of British rule by violence. Cancellation of all debts. Confiscation of all factories, banks, railways and plantations in which the British have an interest.

The establishment of a Soviet government, national minorities being given the right to separate.

The abolition of the Indian States. The confiscation of all property belonging to landlords, Princes, churches, officials and money-lenders, and cancellation of all peasants' debts to banks and money-lenders.

LINER NO. 534

The preparations for the launching of the world's greatest ship, the Cunard-White Star liner 534, at Clydebank, are on a scale never before attending any launching. The launching ways are being greased with 150 tons of tallow. Fifty tons of black soap and one ton of oil are necessary to grease the 3,500 feet of timber blocks on each side of the vessel. The actual number of persons to be admitted to the shipyard will only be 4,000. In an adjoining enclosure there will be room for 30,000 spectators. On the Inchinnan side of the River Cart 6,000 more will be accommodated in a stand, in conjunction with which there will be another huge enclosure for many more thousands of standing spectators. At Gairland Farm, Inchinnan, there will be a grandstand for 10,000 persons. Clydebank is expecting the greatest invasion of visitors in its history, and special excursions have been organized all over the country by railway and road.

The hold which the Indian Princes have on the affections of their subjects was illustrated when the jubilee of the rule of the Maharajah, Shri Sri Bhagvatsinghji, was celebrated at Gondal. The ancient ceremony was revived of weighing the Maharajah against gold and the gold was subscribed by the people of the Gondal State. The Maharajah weighed over three-quarters lakhs, or a sum approximating $85,000. The gold is being used to advance works of public utility in the state.

THE FLUTE OF PERE DABLO

It is his painted pipe with crimson stops
That bears within their crystal groto hear
When ice-floes boom against the glassy weir
And rain falls hissing in a thousand drops.
Over the mosses that the grey moose droop
The lonely runner of the sky draws near;
The swan-note of his flute rings sweetly clear
From snow-filled valleys to white mountain tops.
When to the Indian town he comes a guest,
Along the path left by his mocassins
The snowdrop and the pale arbutus run;
Clad in rich robes of fox and beaver skins,
Welcome the singing courier of the sun.
New York. —Thomas S. Jones, Jr.

"Pere Dablon, once Superior-General of all the Canadian Missions, when a Missionary among the Iroquois, made good use of his flute to win the hearts of the Indians."

Confidence in another man's virtue is no slight evidence of a man's own—Montaigne.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Be sure of it: give me the usual proof—Shakespeare.

A few mornings ago we exchanged greetings with an old friend who takes a deep interest in and has taken an active part in public affairs. After the usual salutation we were asked why our criticism and apparent antagonism to the policies of Premier Hepburn of Ontario. Before we could reply the fact was drawn to our attention that the new Premier of Ontario is doing the very things the people of all parts of Canada have been demanding—reducing the cost of government and promising reduction of taxation.

There is no doubt at all of the fact that Hon. Mitchell Hepburn has achieved a certain amount of notoriety, and possibly a considerable degree of prestige, as a result of the sweeping victory he gained at the late provincial general election. Neither is there any doubt that Mr. Hepburn conducted the campaign which preceded the election with inexhaustible energy and dauntless courage. He was on the political stump by day and did not rest from his labors by night. When he was not stamping he was canvassing in the farming districts, where he had a multitude of friends, admirers and supporters. Ontario had one former Premier who did not shed lustre on either the principles, the morals or the policies of the agricultural sections of the country. The pending election gave the farmers a chance of electing a leader who would be a credit to them and wipe out the memory of the scandals attached to the Drury Farmers' government.

The defeat of the Conservative government of Ontario was not such a signal triumph for the farmer who led the Liberal opposition as it looked when the returns were published in the newspapers. All the forces were aligned against the Conservative administration. The times were inopportune, the business depression was a strong factor. The old government had been in power for about thirty years. It had lost most of its capable leaders and supporters. Its leadership was weak. It was disintegrating. A much less aggressive leader than Mr. Hepburn could have dealt the stroke which knocked it out of power.

Mr. Hepburn has demonstrated that he is a volatile talker and proved that he is a spectacular actor. He has yet to demonstrate that he is a wise administrator and that his acting is not of the burlesque type. He has promised to reduce expenditures and cut down taxation. He has not yet given convincing evidence of his determination to do either of those things. It is true that he has dismissed many thousands of government employees. He has wielded the political axe so effectively that he is already known as the greatest headman of all Canadian times. But he is also reported to have made almost as many appointments as dismissals, and that is not usually the way in which economies and reductions in expenditures are made. He promised before the election to conduct the Lieutenant-Governor to the block, but he has not done that, possibly because he found out after inquiry that he had not the constitutional power to appoint a Liberal Governor in the place of the deposed official.

Anyone who has read of the vagaries of the mind and the verbal bombast of the flamboyant Premier must have reached the conclusion that he is gifted with a flippant tongue, but is destitute of practical knowledge of either the political history of his own country or of the duties of the leader of a government; that he is a great talker but a rather indolent student. He may have called into his councils competent advisers, but he declines listening to their advice if they are capable of giving advice. The only minister of the new government who seems to be considered of any account by the leader is Mr. Roebuck, the new Attorney-General, who seems to be almost as impetuous and ill-balanced as his chief.

Mr. Roebuck, like Mr. Hepburn, seems to assume that the first duty of a new government is to provide jobs and opportunities for political parasites who for a long time have been deprived of political jobs and opportunities. The new liquor law has been applied for the purpose of furnishing long-delayed opportunities. The Attorney-General has made the administration of that new law his special business. In some cases he has issued licences to so many beverage houses (that is what they call beer parlors in Ontario) that a score of places for the sale of beer flourish where only one such place existed before. The scandal of the thing has become so notorious that even the Liberal newspapers are protesting, and the Premier has been compelled to order a revision of the lists of the licensees.

As a tree is known by its fruits, so is a public man judged by his performances, not his promises. Mr. Hepburn was elected on a pledge that he would reduce the cost of government in Ontario by half. After he became Premier and was in office a few weeks he amended that promise and said he would merely give a pledge that he would reduce the cost of administration by half. Let us wait and see.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be printed except over the proper signature, and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 500 words in length.

THE DOG NUISANCE
Sir—I have read Mr. J. O. Simpson's letter in today's Colonist, and I certainly sympathize with him in the damage which was done to his aster bed and to the lilacs in his pond, through the depredations of some dogs of the neighborhood. There would, however, be an easy way to prevent any such further occurrence, by putting up a pretty wire or trellis fence, which at the same time could be used as a support for climbing roses or a hedge with a garden gate to protect his property. Such an enclosure would not only be of practical value in keeping the dogs out, but would also increase the appearance of the property by giving it greater attractiveness and privacy. An open garden is, after all, only a continuation of the street boulevard and sidewalk, and the line of demarcation is not easily to be drawn.

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE"
Sir—In this morning's Colonist I read Mr. B. D. in his splendid column give to Thomas Jefferson the credit for saying that "eternal vigilance is the price of safety." Permit me to inform Mr. B. D. he is wrong. It was not Jefferson, but John Hampden, the great English soldier, statesman and patriot, that coined that immortal phrase. Hampden made that statement some 140 years ago before the American Revolution. And when the great patriot made that statement on the floor of the House of Commons, he electrified a nation and threw the gauntlet in the face of one of the greatest tyrants of all history. Charles the First, shortly after, Hampden was to see his native land torn asunder by a terrible civil war, in which the great patriot was soon to lose his life in the sacred cause of liberty.

LAGOON SPIT LICENCE
Sir—I would be glad if you would insert the following letter, which the undersigned have forwarded to the Premier.
G. R. SWITZER, Ph.D.,
2099 Granite Street, Victoria, B.C., September 12, 1934.

"To the Hon. the Premier of British Columbia, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C.
"Sir—On behalf of the Municipal Association of Greater Victoria, we herewith voice our urgent protest against the recent action of the Liquor Control Board of the Province in issuing a licence for a beer parlor at the Lagoon Spit, Esquimalt."

"We are of the opinion that during the present extreme depression the increase of drinking facilities is especially dangerous to moral and economic well-being.
"It seems incredible to us that a site should be selected for a licence granted within less than half a mile of other licensed premises, and in a location almost wholly used by picnic parties.
"We would further state that to our certain knowledge a number of very prominent citizens of Victoria and district, and a committee representing the Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., Ministerial Association, Victoria Presbytery of the United Church of Canada and the Temperance League of British Columbia have already forwarded strong protests. In our judgment, no sufficient reason has been given for setting aside their petition."

"We hereby call upon all lovers of sobriety and opponents of increased drinking facilities to augment our protest.
"Yours very truly,
"W. G. WILSON.

INTERNATIONAL YACHT RACE
Sir—In the Colonist of September 1 there was an account of the international yacht race, held at New York, between the Madeline (American) and Countess of Dufferin (Canadian) yachts in the year 1876.

I well remember the Countess of Dufferin, as she was built in my home town, Cobourg, Ontario, by Captain Alex. Cuthbert, who designed and built a number of Canadian yachts that had successfully won a number of races on Lake Ontario, against all comers from both sides of the lake. Colonel Gifford, of Cobourg, who was a great sportsman, gave the order to Cuthbert to design a craft that would make a try to lift the America Cup.

The result was a two-masted, centre-board schooner yacht, about 100 feet long. The work was carried out on the inner end of the East Pier, Cobourg Harbor, and the launching of the craft was made a gala day. Then the departure for New York was another great day as she spread her white wings and headed East down the lake, later being piloted through the Lachine Rapids, and on arrival at Quebec an additional twenty tons of ballast was taken on.

Arriving at New York safely, the great day arrived and Cuthbert was notified by Colonel Gifford that the Clifford would take command, and one grand mess he made of it; and to add to the confusion there were steam boats and sailing craft that blanketed the Dufferin in every way they could. One craft even crossed her bow during the race, and Gifford had to alter his course to avoid a collision. If Cuthbert had been at the helm there would have been a different story, as he was a daredevil of the first water, and would have rammed that craft sure as fate. Each race day was a repetition of unfair tactics, mostly at the get away, so the old Countess was eventually trapped and forgotten. Since that time stricter rules have been brought into force, which compel other craft to keep a greater distance away from the contenders, so let us hope for the best during the present contest.

During the evening, respect was paid to the memory of the late John Hoie and the late Alderman R. T. Williams, former members of the Victoria Branch. The eulogies were given by C. C. Pemberton. Donald Fraser read two of the poems of the late Mr. Hoie.

Miss Catherine Craig, one of Victoria's recently discovered elocutionists, gave two very pleasing recitations from the poems of Pauline Johnson. Both were admirably presented. Mrs. F. Elba-Caravan gave a reading on "The art of successful writing," by a well-known writer, and also read poems by the late Jean Blewett.

AUTHORS OPEN FALL SESSION

Victoria Branch of Canadian Association Presents Interesting Programme

Victoria Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association opened its Fall and Winter season Thursday night in the new quarters, the I.O.D.E. rooms in the Union Building, with an interesting and informative programme quite in keeping with the activities of the organization.

Rev. J. P. Hicks, president, welcomed the members to the opening meeting and gave a brief review of the work of the various branches within the Victoria unit, stressing particularly the apparent need of some objective in each department. He did not mention what those objectives might be and appeared content to leave them to the members themselves.

PLAY PRODUCTION

The guest speaker was Hugh Creelman, who is prominently connected with the Victoria Little Theatre movement. His talk was on the "Writing and Production of Plays" from the standpoint of an amateur, and during the course of his remarks he gave some valuable hints on what should and what should not be done in the selection, writing, or production of plays. He was inclined to the belief that successful plays were those that had a popular appeal irrespective of their literary standard.

During the evening, respect was paid to the memory of the late John Hoie and the late Alderman R. T. Williams, former members of the Victoria Branch. The eulogies were given by C. C. Pemberton. Donald Fraser read two of the poems of the late Mr. Hoie.

JUDGING CONTEST IS HELD AT FAIR

Winners in Three Divisions Announced—Event Stimulates Interest in Breeding

Earl Brown, of Brandon, Manitoba, was first, and Annie Turner, of Cadboro Bay, was second in the livestock judging competitions for boys and girls held at the Willows Fair, yesterday. Third place went to Nellie Crossman, of Winnipeg, and fourth place to Charles Smyth, of Huntington.

The children's event is one of the main features of the livestock show, for it was inaugurated several years ago to stimulate an interest in good breeding of cattle among the stock breeders of the future.

In the under twenty-one years class, first place went to Sidney Brown, of Brandon; second place to Jack Brown, of Honey, B.C., and third place to Jack Toomer, of Sidney. Iain Wilson, of North Saanich, placed fourth.

Thomas E. Hays, of Calgary, won first place in the senior class, while A. Hennes, of Pipestone, Man., was second. Third and fourth places went to A. C. Stewart, of Abbotsford, and Owen Richards, of Red Deer, Alta., respectively.

EXPLAINS MARKS ON BLACK WIDOW

Victoria Woman Does Not Think Deadly Spider Could Be Found at Oliver, B.C.

An interesting insight into the identifying marks and habits of the deadly "black widow" spider has been given by Mrs. J. A. Troughton, 1069 Beach Drive, to The Colonist.

Mrs. Troughton, who has had wide experience in hunting and studying this particular insect, states she does not believe the "black widow" could be found so far north as Oliver, B.C., as a report from that centre says, as it is primarily a hot climate insect found only in the South, particularly in Southern California and Arizona. The Oliver report also states that a nest, containing seven spiders of this particular species, was found there. This, according to Mrs. Troughton, is quite foreign to the "black widow," as each spider spins its own web and operates from a small nest in the centre.

Jet black, like the common variety of spider, the "black widow" is readily identified by a bright red diamond on the under side of its body.

A "black widow," captured in Palm Springs, Cal., and safely preserved in alcohol, was loaned to the paper for exhibit by Mrs. Troughton. It is on display in The Colonist window.

EXHIBITION TO END TONIGHT

Fireworks and Highland Contests Are Features on Final Day's Card

With a grand fireworks display scheduled for tonight, and the Highland dancing and piping competitions running all day, the final day at the Willows fair should see the attendance record again broken.

The fireworks, which will be visible only from the grandstand, will be preceded by a band concert, played by the Canadian Legion thirty-five-piece band. The display will start at 8 o'clock, and conclude at 9 p.m., when the crowd will be released so that the visitors may find more fun on the midway, inspect the motion picture studio, hall of science, manufacturers' buildings, main building, women's building and the cattle barns.

The Highland dancing and piping contests will get under way at 10 o'clock this morning, and it is expected that judging will be completed by 5 o'clock in the evening.

MEDICAL PARTY VISITS VICTORIA

French and Belgian Doctors Impressed by Eastern Hospitals and Rocky Mountains

Much impressed, first with the standard of Eastern hospitals, and secondly with the grandeur of the Rocky Mountains, a party of French and Belgian doctors and their wives paid a short visit to Victoria yesterday.

After a sightseeing trip of Greater Victoria, the party, numbering fifteen, left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, from where they will travel to Rochester, Minnesota, to see the famous Mayo Clinic. The tour party is being conducted by Felix Berger, Montreal, for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. They visited at the Empress Hotel while in the city.

With many others, these doctors attended the recent French Medical Congress at Quebec. The visitors are well known in their profession in France, a number being professors of medicine and surgery in the French district universities. Members of the party were Dr. and Mrs. Aubert, Dr. and Mrs. Carriere, Mrs. Simoes, Dr. and Mrs. Leccerle, Dr. Pares, Dr. and Mrs. Levy-Valensi, Dr. and Mrs. Valensi and Mr. and Mrs. Valero.

FEWER SEEKING RELIEF IN CITY

August Figures Show Better Situation Than Has Existed in the Past

The figures now compiled in the city relief office show a drop in the number of families under the heading of relief. While the number in July was 891 families, this decreased for last month to 857, which was the lowest number on relief for the past two years. While the decline in the number of families on relief was gratifying during the past month, it is improbable, the department feels, that this will be continued and as the Fall advances there is the danger that the number of families applying will be on the increase.

The highest month for the year was February, with 1,003. Succeeding months for the year showed the following: March, 998; April, 974; May, 959; June, 919; July, 891, and August, 857.

In the matter of the single men and women seeking relief, the past month showed a drop. There were 301 independent of those who are taken care of in the single men's camps, while in July there were 315. In August of last year the number was 326.

In order to guard against further increases during the coming Winter months, the civic authorities are hoping that there may be a revival in industrial activity, which will be reflected in the engagement of more employees.

SAYS POOR ROADS IN PROVINCE HINDRANCE TO TOURIST BUSINESS

"British Columbia has wondrous beauty but, unfortunately, lacks good roads," said Mrs. G. C. Bowman, of Columbus, Ohio, in commenting on her recent motor trip with her husband through this Province. She thought that the beauty centres of British Columbia would be visited by many from her own part of the country, as well as numerous other sections of the United States, if the roads were "at least passable." At present they are guests at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman enjoyed their visits at Banff and other Rocky Mountain resorts. They plan to tour the Island, and pay a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Butchart, whom they met some time ago on a world cruise.

SHELTER NEEDS MORE SUPPORT

Committee Appeals to Public to Subscribe $1,200 for Recreation Rooms

During the past three years, hundreds, probably thousands, of unemployed and homeless men, who would otherwise have found it necessary to stand on street corners, or frequent questionable resorts, have had reason to be grateful to many of Victoria's kind hearted citizens who have supported the Citizens' Shelter at 521 Port Street.

Here they get shelter, warmth, a place to meet their fellow men, indulge in reading or games, or write letters. Concerts have been put on by voluntary local talent during the Winter months, temporary, and in some cases permanent work has been found for many of the men, and they all have at least the feeling that here is a place where they have a right to be. That they have been grateful for this effort is shown by the fact that their behavior has, without exception, been quiet and orderly.

The rooms were secured by the citizens' shelter committee in February, 1932, furnished and supplied with reading matter, games, etc., by many generous citizens, and kept open by private subscriptions, tag days, and the proceeds of concerts and entertainments. The committee, mostly men and women connected with the various city churches, now find themselves faced with the task of providing $1,200 to keep the institution open during the Winter months, when it is most important that shelter and warmth be provided. They confidently appeal to the citizens to do their part by providing the necessary funds. Subscriptions may be sent to A. H. Hurdieby, secretary, at 521 Port Street.

Discuss Show at Poultry Meeting

An informal meeting to discuss results of the exhibition this year was conducted Thursday night by members of the Victoria Poultry Association in the Poultry Building at the Willows Fair.

Various suggestions for improvement at next year's show were offered, including elimination of either dual purpose or exhibition poultry. However, no action was taken.

It was announced that the next regular meeting of the association will be held on the first Monday in October at the Y.M.C.A.

No crowding please.—I will still act in the capacity of peace officer, and will be glad to serve any civil papers, and anyone wishing to be arrested for violating any of the State Laws, their patronage will be appreciated also.—Sam H.—

SEES REVIVAL OF OLD SPORT

Ald. Dr. J. D. Hunter Forecasts Return of Steeplechasing and Polo

Discussing the fact, yesterday, that Victoria is the only city on the Pacific Coast that holds a horse show in connection with its annual fair, Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, director of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, visualized a return of steeplechasing and polo to public favor.

Forty years ago, steeplechases and polo were among the most outstanding sports here, Colwood being the scene of the activities. There still is abundant territory for this sport in the Langford district, he said, and the horse shows

Spectacular Entertainment Enjoyed by Patrons at Willows Event—Mrs. Matthews' Kitzmiller Is Champion—F. Wilmot Wins Jump

LOVERS of horses and fine horsemanship had a rare treat last evening in the final horse show at the Willows. It was an outstandingly fine climax to the week's entertainments at the Horse Show Building, and many who have patronized these events annually since their inception here declare that it was the peer of anything of the kind that has ever taken place in Victoria. The spectators were most enthusiastic, and practically every patron of the performance remained until the last item of the programme was judged and the purple ribbon of the championship class handed to Mrs. T. K. Matthews and her handsome brown gelding, Kitzmiller. Mrs. Carley, with Beggar Boy, carried off the reserve champion ribbon.

For two items of the enter (than Steelhead), for cup. Sponsored by Miss P. Forbes. Pony under 14 worth a special trip to the Willows, the splendid exhibition of heavy draft horses and six-horse team driving, and the Grafton broad jump. A. C. Leslie & Sons, of Watrous, Sask., carried off the first prize ($150), in the former competition, and F. Wilmot the latter. The Leslie team, driven by Mr. Leslie himself, was one of the most handsome ever to compete at a local show. It was the first time the famous Watrous team had been shown at the Pacific Coast, and the magnificent spectacle of Clydesdales, averaging about 1,700 pounds apiece, is now to be sent to Toronto, to compete in the draft-horse class at the fair there. They were not only handsome, but extraordinarily well-schooled and amenable, and proved a very handy team.

Although the competing teams were magnificent specimens of horseflesh, there was no doubt whatever as to which the winner would be, every horse being 100 per cent sound, without blemish of any kind, and they won hands down for conformation, manner of going and equipment, and their driver winning accordingly. A salvo of applause as they were driven out of the show ring.

Second, third and fourth places in this competition were won, respectively, by A. J. Dall's Crystal Dairy team of Clydesdales (Vancouver), last year's champions; the D. F. Burge team of Percherons, from Albany, Oregon; and Robert Thorburn's Clydesdale team from Vancouver, last year's runners-up. Each team was also shown very fine form and handling, and each was heartily applauded by the spectators.

GRAFTON JUMP

The Grafton broad jump is always a popular feature, but seldom has it been so neatly and easily done as by F. Wilmot and his mount, Tony. The jump consisted of two feet of timber and brush, after which there was a twelve-foot broad jump over cardboard boxes to be negotiated in the first jump. The two first competitors to come into the ring to attempt the jump, failed to clear the boxes, but Tony, and Mrs. Carley, first on Beggar Boy, later on Sir Wilfred, cleared the whole obstruction neatly. A second jump after the cardboard jump had been extended by another width of box, Tony and Sir Wilfred again cleared the combined jump with ease. At the third round, with still another box added, making a total of six-foot take-off, a total jump of about twenty feet, Tony sailed across without any apparent discomfort, with several inches margin between his heels and the obstacle. The deafening burst of applause without a twitch of nervousness. Mrs. Carley lost her chances of competing again when Sir Wilfred, in the third round, knocked down the brush and timber, and placed the cardboard boxes, which was unfortunate after the horse's previous fine performances.

CHAMPIONSHIP CLASS

Thirteen animals competed in the championship class, and the award of the purple championship ribbon and the Mrs. Fred Robertson trophy went to Mrs. T. K. Matthews and Kitzmiller, who was most popular, and was the selection of Mrs. Carley and Beggar Boy for the reserve champion ribbon.

The show throughout was run off with clockwork-like precision. The polo pony class was another of the highlights of the well-thought-out programme. Mr. Wilmot, who won this year's purple, and Miss McNeill, who was well-schooled as well as having fine conformation. The ladies gave some tips to the men in the jumping class. Miss Robertson on the winning pony, Solange, Mrs. Carley on Irish Jury, and Miss McNeill on Scotsman, taking the timber and brush very neatly. Scotsman and rider were both applauded when the ringmaster announced that although temporarily disallowed from competing owing to a complaint by the S.P.C.A., examination by a veterinary surgeon had shown that the horse was in first-class condition and quite qualified to take part in this event.

LAST RITES TODAY

The funeral of Eleanor Dorene, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newland Phillips, 2295 Cook Street, will take place this afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Sands Mortuary. Rev. W. J. Thompson will officiate and the remains will be laid at rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Ship to Hunt Cosmic Rays

When the Dollar liner President Hayes sails around the world on her next voyage, she will carry a cosmic ray electroscope from the California Institute of Technology. Photo shows Captain O. A. Pierson inspecting the device, which will be used to check findings made on another line, which indicated that cosmic ray intensity becomes greater at the equator in the South China Sea than it does off the west coast of South America.

City and District

Leaving for East—Harvey Phil, of this city, will leave today for the East and Southern states to exhibit a carload of prize sheep.

Liquor Charge—Stanley Baverstock, charged with having violated the Liquor Act in having intoxicating liquor in a cafe, pleaded guilty in the city police court, yesterday, and was fined $50.

Tax Sale Concludes—When Esquimalt tax sale ended yesterday, it was found that seven lots had been sold, realizing $732.99. One hundred and fifty parcels were listed for sale, but forty-six were redeemed just prior to the sale.

To Address Society—The British Columbia Historical Association will meet in the Provincial Archives, next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The speaker will be K. Winkler, whose topic will be "The History of Prospecting on Vancouver Island."

Sale Ends Today—The annual Saanich tax sale ends today at the Municipal Hall, Royal Oak. Yesterday, three parcels were sold for $76.53, bringing the total lots sold to sixty. The amount realized on the transactions was slightly more than $3,900.

Trade Mission Starts—P. Z. Gaverrill, chief forester for the Province, left yesterday for Vancouver, in preparation for the start, today, of the lumber trade delegation to South Africa. Mr. Gaverrill will act as honorary secretary to the mission, which will touch at Ottawa and London, England, en route to South Africa. The party expects to be away from five to six months.

Expect Operating Profit—An operating profit of $100,000, exclusive of carrying charges, may be anticipated from the Pacific Great Eastern Railway this year, it was indicated, yesterday, by Hon. John Hart. Mr. Hart returned from a tour over the road impressed with the efficiency of the service and the condition of equipment, he said.

Inquest Adjourned—The inquest into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Ellen Parfitt following an automobile accident has been postponed for two weeks. Yesterday morning the jury was duly sworn in by the coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart, and after viewing the remains at McCall Bros' Funeral Home an adjournment was taken until September 28. W. P. Marchant appeared representing James Parfitt.

Again in Court—Charles Bland was charged in the city police court, yesterday, with having assaulted his wife, causing actual bodily harm. The case is one in which the accused has the option of taking summary trial in the police court or of taking preliminary proceedings there, deferring his trial to the higher court. On the request of the accused, the case was postponed until Monday, when the accused will elect as to his trial.

To Assume Duties—Dr. H. M. Cassidy, new director of social welfare for the province, will arrive in the city on Sunday, and will take over his duties at the Legislative Buildings on the day following. Dr. Cassidy has made a special study of state health and hospitalization in England and in continental Europe, at the request of the Government. He will be in charge of the social welfare branch of the Provincial Secretary's Office.

Nickel Prospects Bright—Development of nickel ores in British Columbia in association with a chromite content may open a new chapter in mining in this Province, if present indications are borne out in extensive tests now under way. It was intimated yesterday by British Columbia Mines officials. The British Columbia Department of Mines is watching with interest development in Interior areas, where a promising low-grade ore is said to have been found in considerable volume.

To Consider Proposals—British Columbia's submissions at the next Ottawa conference will be considered next week, on return of members of the Cabinet at present out of the city. It was said yesterday at the Legislative Buildings. Several departments will have definite proposals to advance, though the exact form these will take has yet to be worked out. The agenda tentatively suggested by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, meanwhile, is being viewed as sufficiently broad to permit of discussion on a large range of issues.

Funeral Services for the late Edgar Henry Fisher, an active member of St. Mark's Anglican Church, and for many years the people's warden, were conducted, yesterday afternoon in St. Mark's Church, in the presence of a large congregation. Rev. O. L. Jull, rector, officiated, assisted by Rev. Canon H. V. Hitchcock, of Nanaimo.

Hymns sung during the service were "Fight the Good Fight" and "Unto the Hills," and the Twenty-Third Psalm. The church choir was in attendance, and at the conclusion of the service sang "Nunc Dimittis." Present at the rites were Rev. Canon J. W. Plinton, former rector of St. Mark's Church, and Rev. J. S. A. Bastin, and delegations from Work Point Barracks and the Toimie Parent-Teacher Association.

A wealth of floral tributes was received, testifying to the high esteem in which Mr. Fisher was held by all who knew him.

Interment was made in Colwood Rural Park, the following being pallbearers: O. M. Prentice, Lieut. Col. F. W. L. Moore, P. J. Merriman, C. A. Goodwin, G. T. Hughes and N. Phillips.

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Madrigalists Will Resume Activity Soon

Announcement is made in the advertising columns of the opening practice of the Victoria Madrigal Society.

This Society, with the Cathedral String Orchestra, under the direction of Stanley Bulley, has given a highly-interesting interpretation of three compositions (including the Rig Veda) from the pen of the late Gustav Holst, whose untimely death, with that of Sir Edward Elgar, was a distinct loss to Great Britain, even with the ever-increasing number of composers of the present day who are attracting attention in Continental Europe, the Dominions and the United States. Among the modern composers is R. Vaughan Williams, whose "Sea Symphony" features this season's modern portion of the repertoire. This is a work for soprano and baritone solo, with chorus and orchestra, in four movements, set to the exquisite words of Walt Whitman. There are vacancies for all voices, particularly tenors and basses. All interested are invited to communicate with the director.

Clubs-Societies

Malabar W.A.
The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Malabar Branch of the Canadian Legion, was held in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Wednesday evening, with a good attendance of members. A letter was read from the provincial secretary with reference to the charter recently applied for. The provincial president will visit the auxiliary and present the charter. September 26 has been tentatively set as the date for this occasion, when members of the legion will be asked to join the auxiliary. A social hour will be arranged to follow the presentation. Auxiliary badges were given by the president to the charter members. A committee was formed to meet a group from the legion to discuss the sale of poppies. Mrs. H. Granger and Mrs. Price, from Cobble Hill, and Mrs. G. Orr and Mrs. A. Dyson, from Shawanigan, will be in charge. Mrs. Orr offered the assistance of the Brownie pack.

The subject of Christmas hampers was discussed and Mrs. Orr was appointed convener. Several useful articles have already been donated by the members.

Mrs. Walter Fraser, the vice-president, was in charge of the meeting, owing to the absence of Mrs. Frank Sehl, the president, who is out of the city.

Daughters of St. George
Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238, Daughters of St. George, will meet on Friday, September 21, in the K. of C. Hall, at 7:30 p.m. At the close of the session, a card party will be held, convened by Mrs. Pocock. Members are asked to bring refreshments.

Daughters of St. George

Army and Navy W.A.
The Women's Auxiliary to the Army and Navy Veterans No. 12, will meet for the first time this season on Tuesday in the club-rooms on Bastion Street.

Plans Made for Winter Classes

Seasonal activities were planned and approved at the first Fall meeting of the board of directors of the Y.W.C.A., yesterday afternoon, in the association building, with Mrs. Roy Angus in the chair. Extensive reports from various committees were read. Mrs. Hammond, for the girls' work committee, gave details of plans for the clubs and classes. Through arrangements with the Y.M.C.A., their swimming pool and gymnasium have been secured for Wednesday classes on Wednesdays, including business girls, school girls, professional and business women, and married women. Basketball teams will be formed for those attending the girls' clubs. Miss Barbara Hinton has again been engaged as director of gymnastic and swimming and dancing classes. Full information may be obtained at the Y.W.C.A., regarding these activities.

A Fall opening is being planned, further announcement of which will appear at a later date. A new feature being added this year is an educational group under the convener of Mrs. W. H. Gunning. This will include a reading club under Mrs. H. O. English, one in contract bridge and possibly rug-making, under Mrs. McLeish.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The following were appointed board members: Mrs. George Strath, Mrs. G. M. Weir and Mrs. Hugh Peters.

An all-day sewing meeting has been arranged for next Wednesday, for mending and sewing, at the suggestion of the house committee. A rummage sale has been planned for Saturday, October 6, by the finance committee. Friends are asked to keep this date in mind when discarding used clothing or other articles.

Mrs. Whitley, for the annex committee, reported that a silver tea will be held in the annex on October 9. An interesting feature of this affair will be a table of novelties for sale.

It was decided to hold the postponed tag day on Saturday, November 3. Offers of assistance in tagging will be greatly appreciated.

The Travelers' Aid report was particularly interesting in view of the increased travel during the summer. That this good work is greatly appreciated was evidenced by the receipt of a letter from the father of a girl whom the Travelers' Aid had been able to assist recently.

LIBERAL SOCIAL CLUB

The Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold its weekly dance at the Liberal headquarters, tonight, from 9 to 12 o'clock.

"It's funny, Molly — Peggy's always loved the ride before. But she's been acting just this way for a whole week!"

"She's not hungry either. I've found, Nan, that these symptoms mean it's time for a laxative. Give Peggy Castoria tonight."

"We want to report that Peggy's fine today — a perfect lamb! We both can't thank you enough for suggesting Castoria."

"A good laxative was all the child needed. Nan, and Castoria is made especially for children. It's the best first-aid treatment for a cold that I know, too. And children never mind taking it because it tastes so good. Then, it hasn't any of the strong drugs in it that make some grown-up laxatives so unpleasant, and sometimes so harmful for children to take."

If September 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, from 3 to 5 p.m., and from 8 to 10 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m., from 1 to 3 p.m., and from 6 to 8 p.m.

It might be advisable to be cautious regarding your tone of voice on this date. Conditions are apt to exist that may have a tendency to cause high pitched speech to be regarded as indicating anger or passion, and this might cause the listener to display considerable irritation. It possibly will be well to remember it is not always what you say it, is the manner in which you say it, is the thing that counts. A disregard for time, especially where it relates to business or social engagements, should be carefully avoided, as tardiness in keeping appointments might be the cause of unpleasantness. In getting on or off of moving conveyances on this date, care should be exercised that no attempt to mount or dismount is made until they have come to a complete stop, otherwise there is danger of an accident resulting. If a woman and September 15 is your birthday, you may find a vivid imagination, such as you probably may make, will not be amiss. There may be a tendency to misplace or lose things on this date, so it will pay to be careful. Married and engaged couples, as well as those engaged in courtship, will display good judgment as well as taste, if they avoid attracting undue attention in public places, by any ostentatious display of affectionate poses. If a woman and September 15 is your birthday, you may find a vivid imagination, such as you probably possess, is not only at times a blessing, but also a hindrance to your peace of mind. It gives you a marvelous creative power and the ability to build wondrous mental pictures. It may also cause imaginary aches and pains and fancied wrongs. These latter, possibly purely mental apprehensions, can be rectified by forcing yourself to contract the habit of thinking clearly and occupying your thoughts with worthwhile subjects. Music, art, literature and educational work are lines of work worthy of your consideration. Matrimonial life should prove an ideal one for you. The child born on September 15, when it reaches its teens, may prove to be rather a dreamer, with an unusual sense of appreciation for all that is beautiful. If a man and September 15 is your birth anniversary, you have the ability to visualize with remarkable clarity. This should enable you to accomplish things in a big way and become financially independent. Married life should prove to be the logical one for you. Decidedly More Restful.—The new deluxe night coach will have sleeping accommodations for twenty-five, and for daytime travel, seating capacity for forty. Berths will be horizontal of the coach instead of vertical as on present models. — Mill Valley (Cal.) paper.

DOG RODE "LAST" MILE

SHANGHAI—A dog received a "last" ride when Chinese farmers hit upon a novel idea to induce rain during the Kiangsu drought. When their rain prayers went unheeded by the dragon, farmers organized a two-mile-long parade, in which the piece-de-resistance was a dog, carried in an ornate sedan chair, with five coolies splashing him with water.

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

Big Yachts Start
Racing Today for
The America's Cup

Endeavour and Rainbow in Splendid Trim for Yachting Classic—Boats Built to Rule and Vary Little

Groomed as sleek as money and man's ingenuity can get them, if the weather is at all favorable, the two contenders for the world's premier yachting trophy will go out this morning for the first test of their sailing qualities, as well as the initial demonstration of what their skippers can do when engaged in the actual business of "out-maneuvring" one another. The races will be sailed in the waters off Newport, Long Island.

All the advance guessing about the probable outcome of this year's racing for the blue ribbon of yachting goes by the board at this moment. Results only will count from now on until the series is finished, which will be when one of the boats has won four starts. What Endeavour has done against yachts on the other side and what she has demonstrated against her "trial horse" on the American side of the Atlantic, mean nothing; neither does the unsatisfactory conclusion of the series to choose a defender indicate that Rainbow is not the best boat to fly the Stars and Stripes in the big international event.

NO ADVANTAGE
Built to the "J" Class ruling, there will be no advantage of time allowance either way, the best crossing the finish line first in each start being the winner. This classification of yachts does not permit of much latitude in freaky design or what one might call unlimited sailing capacity, which in the past, although penalized by some time allowance, worked a distinct hardship on yachts forced to make the ocean crossing. Now, if a designer wants to experiment with a new creation in a hull or tends to be freakish in its design, he will have to sacrifice something in sail area; or if he thinks greater driving power can be attained by increasing her sail dimensions in any way he will have to sacrifice something in the hull.

The contestants must measure into the "J" Class rule. That is all that is necessary. How the hull is made, what it is made of, or how the sails are cut or what kind of cloth is used to make them up, does not matter. As long as the hull and sail spread measure within the rules, the accepted challenger for, and the chosen defender of, America's Cup, no matter what the cut of the job or the mainsail is like, or what kites they spread, are eligible. Some of Endeavour's head sails have a distinctive cut, and apparently Rainbow has copied something which Endeavour brought over, and which they call a "parachute spinnaker." Both boats were measured early in the week, and both conformed to the rule.

THE HUMAN FACTOR
Both boats being equal, or as nearly equal as a rule can compel them to be, it is evident that the result will depend on the yacht-sailing capabilities of the rival skippers and their crews. Quick response to steering touch and even the slightest breeze, both Endeavour and Rainbow are sensitive creations and will have to be handled smartly without loss of time in going about and taking in headsails. In this series of races, seconds only may stand between the victor and vanquished. The human factor will probably mean more in the 1934 cup series than in any prior contest for the historic mug, which has cost men many millions of dollars to compete for and is worth in dollars and cents somewhere in the neighborhood of $500. Being metal, its intrinsic value fluctuates, at that.

When the races were sailed below New York, the greatest handicap for a challenger, on top of the handicap in construction necessary for the Atlantic crossing, no matter how able the skipper might be, was lack of local knowledge. Broken up by islands, currents which he could only have a superficial knowledge of, at least, run at various speeds and in various directions; while the wind, especially when blowing light, has a station of blowing off the land at certain places in different strengths, information which only years of acquaintance with could provide. Men who possessed all this knowledge were aboard the defenders, and although the challenger could pay for the information, and did, it is hardly believable that the owner got what he paid for.

STILL PREVAIL
While these conditions are not so pronounced off Newport, they still prevail to some extent, and will be a consideration in the present series. These conditions are bound to exist where the big yachts must sail—in as nearly protected waters as they can get. It would be a different story offshore in the open sea, but America's Cup yachts are not built for open sea sailing, so there must be some natural handicaps. They are fewer off Newport, however, than on any other suitable yachting course.

On her performances to date, Endeavour looks like a yacht that might carry America's Cup back to England, while Rainbow will probably be as good a defender as the New York Yacht Club could select.

Courses for America's Cup Contests

The map here illustrates the various courses laid out for the America's Cup races, to be started today between T. O. M. Sopwith's British challenger Endeavour and the defending yacht, Rainbow, owned by a New York syndicate of noted United States millionaires, including the Vanderbilts. Windward-leeward and triangular courses to be sailed alternately, laid out in accordance with the wind. The first yacht to win four races will win the coveted mug. Races to be held every other day, depending upon weather conditions.

although some people Boston way will not agree as to that.

John Quincy Adams, who sailed against one of the Shamrocks, and who, some people think, should have been sailing Yankee in the series against the British challenger, has been sailing against Sopwith. He took charge of Vanitie, which was beaten by Endeavour in the tuning-up tests; and then Sopwith changed over with him, taking Vanitie. Adams sailing Endeavour and winning easily. Sopwith has been a lucky man. It will have something to do with the winning of the series, as it has been in most successes. However, the yachtman's toast, as the boats go out to the line today, will not be out of place. It is: "A fair breeze and no favors; and may the best boat win."

VOYAGE OF STOWAWAYS
NIPPED AT CHERBOURG

Majestic had all but cleared the port today when William Hobbs, twenty-four, of Canada, and Graham Williamson, twenty-five, of Los Angeles, were identified as stowaways. Ships officers cut short their trip to New York and sent the pair ashore with the pilot.

Vancouver Shipping

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14 (CP).—The Alaska Steamship Company steamer Northwestern arrived here Thursday and berthed at Canadian Fishing Co. dock to resume the company's Fall, Winter and Spring calls at Vancouver. She had 200 passengers from the gold fields and fishing ports of Alaska. The next vessel of the company will be Ss. Alaska, due here Saturday or early Sunday.

Nippon Yusen Kaisha Ms. Hikawa Maru will arrive Saturday at B. W. Greer & Son, with passengers and cargo from the Orient. She will bring 100 passengers and a Vancouver cargo of 500 tons general and silk.

Blue Funnel Line Ms. Tanianus arrived today to Doodwell & Co., and has berthed at Ballantyne Pier. The ship will sail Sunday for the Orient.

SHIPS IN COLLISION

LONDON, Sept. 14 (CP-Havas).—The steamer Duke of Lancaster and the cargo boat Morcombe collided in a fog in the Irish Sea today. An officer of the latter ship was thrown overboard by the shock and was dead when rescuers reached him.

Blaze Extinguished

KOBE, Japan, Sept. 14 (AP).—The German freighter Fulda arrived here today with a small fire burning in her hold. The blaze was extinguished quickly and with little loss.

"Recently, on the Farham-Amberley road," writes Mr. Shane Leslie, "I was attracted by a monster thistle which I mistook for an oak sapling. It measured nine feet and five inches." But nature keeps an even balance; and it is a disturbing reflection that if she grows nine-foot thistles she must somewhere be growing a size of a corresponding size to eat them.

FIFTEENTH

Forty Races Have Been Sailed for America's Cup to Date

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP).—The challenge of Thomas Octave Murdoch Sopwith marks the fifteenth time in eighty-four years a representative of the British Empire has sought to lift the America's Cup from its trophy case in the New York Athletic Club.

A total of forty races have been sailed during the fourteen previous series. All matches and thirty-seven of the races have been won by the defending United States yacht. Three races were won by British challengers.

The defender was disabled in one race and withdrew, and in two races the challenger met with a similar fate and withdrew.

Lord Dunsraven, the British challenger in 1895, was disqualified in the second race for fouling the defender, and in the next race the British yacht was withdrawn.

More than $3,000,000 was spent in defence preparations in 1930, and perhaps that much has been expended this year getting ready for the challenge of Sopwith's Endeavour.

Reveals Identity
When Parachute
Descends in Zoo

LONDON, Sept. 14 (CP-Havas).—A unique experiment today befell an English parachutist who did not want to reveal his identity. Jumping from a plane over Chesington Surrey, he descended almost into the lion's cage at the local zoo.

He was caught on the pommel bars and the two lions couldn't quite reach him.

While firemen played a hose on the lion, a hardy spectator climbed the bars and gathered the helpless parachutist in his arms, pulling him to safety.

SAILED OVER
CUP COURSE

Racing Yachts Were Out
Yesterday for Final
Tuning Up

By TOM HORGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 14.—Baronets were given no opportunity today to take up abode on the bottom of Rainbow, the United States defender, or Endeavour, the British challenger for the America's Cup, as they awaited tomorrow's starting gun to send them away in the opening race of the international series.

Both yachts, now tuned to their greatest point of sailing efficiency, were out under sail, sporting about the cup course, nine miles southeast of Newport, Reef lightship, with Westmeat, unsuccessful contender for defence nomination, and Vanitie, old and ineligible cup boat.

Little could be learned in advance of the potential speed of the rivals through observing their performances today, for close contests were avoided.

FRIENDLY RIVALRY

Sopwith's bid for the America's Cup, emblematic since 1851 of the superiority of American yachtmanship over British, continues to engender only the friendliest sort of rivalry. Gerard Lambert, owner and skipper of Vanitie, who furnished the "old girl" as trial horse to both the American Cup candidates and Endeavour, tomorrow will serve as skipper aboard Vanitie. This will replace Vita's master, Capt. Donald McKillop, a very busy Scot, and he will deft his stripes to serve as an ordinary hand on Endeavour.

Revenue Cutters
Follow Japanese
Boat Hauyn Maru

MANILA, P.I., Sept. 14 (AP).—Two United States revenue cutters set out in pursuit of the Japanese fishing boat Hauyn Maru, today, when members of the boat's crew were reported to have attacked and wounded three Filipino peace officers.

Governor Higinio Mandoza and other officials of the Palawan Province telegraphed that the fishermen attacked the Philippines constabulary men and a police sergeant, and threw them overboard. They were rescued, however.

Constabulary Lieutenant Vincent B. Acheta cabled that the three men are all beaten or cut by the Japanese crew of twenty-four, then robbed and tossed over the side. He said they seized the fishermen's log.

Iwahashi, professor of English and the Philosophy of Religion in Kwansai Gakuin University, Tokyo, spent two hours in the city last Saturday, during which he addressed a gathering of his countrymen at the Japanese mission on Pandora Avenue, at a service conducted by Rev. T. Ogura, pastor in charge.

This distinguished visitor was here on route from Vancouver to Seattle and other points down the Coast, to fulfill a series of speaking tours which he has been making for months. ## Belle Mystery Cops Her Third Victory At Local Enclosure

Comes to Wire in Fifth Race Two Lengths in Front of Adelaide N—Santorio Pays $18.05 for Best Win Price

Chalk up another victory to Belle Mystery, brown-colored four-year-old from the E. B. Burgess Stable. Running in the fifth race over the six furlongs and thirty yards yesterday afternoon, on the muddy and heavy Willows track, the Belle registered her third win of the meet when she raced to the wire two lengths in front of Adelaide N, the place horse. One Long Hop, the odds-on favorite, ran wide on the first turn when racing second, and finished fifth in a field of six horses.

The favorites hit their stride in three of the seven events, with the second and fourth choice mounts taking the remaining honors.

Brilliant sunshine greeted the punters, and betting was reported brisk. Today, with prospects of continued good weather, another large crowd is expected to make its way to the Willows enclosure to witness the attractive programme of seven races, which marks the start of the last seven days' racing on British Columbia tracks.

WINS TWO STRAIGHT

The J. L. Seabey Stables scored successive victories in the first and second races when Adam Somers, the favorite, and King Caries, little better than a 6 to 1 shot, came home in front in the first and second events, respectively.

Santorio, an eight-year-old, owned by O. L. Brown, rewarded the punters with the best win price of the day when he led the parade to the judges' stand in the sixth race and paid $18.05 for a two-dollar ducat on his nose.

King Caries, with Griffin up, returned the first double-figure price of the day when he topped the second event and paid his backers $14.20 for a two-dollar pastebord. Sweet Past, ridden by Colpitta, was second, while Chiefs Lady, the favorite, with Jockey Sena up, trailed the field.

In the last race, Deep Beach, who went to the starting gate at 6 to 1, made every spot a winner, and finished in the clear. She paid $14.75 straight, $12.65 place and $5.05 show.

ONE-TWO PAYS WELL

The one-two bet on the seventh race paid the lucky punter $4.75, while in the fifth event, the one-two return was $42.10. The daily double, King Caries to Genevieve M., netted those fortunate enough to pick the winners of the second and third races, $34 even.

Jockey Sena, who has been riding a number of winners at the local track, failed to bring any of his mounts home in front.

Alcazar Scores Neck Verdict in Historic Event

DONCASTER, England, Sept. 14.—William Woodward's Alcazar, the odds-on favorite, won the running of the historic Doncaster Cup this afternoon, but finished the grueling 2 1/4-mile journey only a neck in front of Sir Charles Hyde's Duplicate. The only other starter, Sir Frederick Eley's Solar Boy, wound up two lengths back.

Alcazar, a three-year-old by Acholus out of Princess Carter, started at odds of 3 to 10. Duplicate, also a three-year-old, was 4 to 1, and Solar Boy, a four-year-old, 10 to 7. It was the 130th running of the long-distance feature.

Each player on the series-winning team will receive approximately $1,000 extra from the radio broadcast, the losers getting about $500 each.

Ticket prices remain unchanged, with $6.50 top price.

ROSS AND McLARNIN BOOKED TO FIGHT TONIGHT

Welters Appear In Great Shape For Title Clash

Ross Confident on Eve of Battle While Vancouver Irishman Hopes to Regain Lost Crown—Weather Man May Postpone Mix Again—Gate Expected to Be Near $175,000

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP).—Barney Ross, bristling little double champion of the lightweights and welterweights, is supposed to defend the latter of those titles against Jimmy McLarnin, the Irish avenger from Vancouver, in Madison Square Garden's bowl on Long Island, tomorrow night, but everyone's fingers still are crossed.

Freakey weather, that already has forced ten days of postponements, still was in charge of the situation, and the prospects for a clear night for the fifteen-pound return engagement actually were no better tonight than when the bout was first scheduled to go on, September 6. The weather man said showers were due tomorrow.

END TRAINING
Regardless, the athletes finished their training chores today as unconcerned as if they hadn't been trying to fight their way out of hotel rooms for almost two weeks. McLarnin punched a light bag and exercised for four rounds at one gymnasium and Ross, who took McLarnin's 147-pound laurels away from him on a split fifteen-round decision in May, did about the same at another.

Mike Jacobs, putting on the show for the New York American Christmas and Relief Fund, said good weather would result in a boom that would show gate receipts above the $175,000 mark.

FIGHTERS LOOK GOOD
Both fighters looked in perfect condition this afternoon. Ross seems to have lost a little of the 140 pounds he scaled September 6, while McLarnin seemed heavier than his original 145 3-4. Jimmy "guessed" that he'd weigh in at the new ceremonies at noon (E.S.T.) tomorrow at about 146 1-2, while Ross may be about 139.

"I'm more confident than ever," Ross said.

McLarnin merely hoped that Ross would make a slugging fight of it.

TOPNOTCH TENNIS—HOW TO ATTAIN IT

Proper Placing of Ball in Service
Writer Points Out How Good Players Acquire This

(Editor's Note.—This is the fourteenth of a series of tennis instructions, appearing exclusively in The Colonist.)
By JACK LIPPERT
Central Press Canadian Writer

Serving efficiently and effectively means putting the ball where you want it with the kind of spin you believe is suitable for the occasion. Most young beginners consider themselves lucky if they can hit the ball so that it lands "good" in the opponent's service court. They make no attempt to place their service so that it strikes in some particular part of the opponent's court.

But the player of ability and some experience who has gained control over the service stroke, and uses the slice service, the American twist, or the flat racket speed service (cannonball service), as he chooses, is not content to make his service merely "good," but wants to place it in some particular part of the service court.

This ability to place the service to either right, left or centre of the court, is a valuable asset to the server, for it creates a difficulty for the receiver in anticipating the direction of the service and adjust his stance accordingly.

RICH PURSE RACE TODAY

Nineteen Horses to Face Starter in $100,000 Futurity Classic

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP).—The world's richest horse race, the $100,000 futurity, will be renewed at Belmont Park, tomorrow, with the three B's—Bradley, Brookmeyer and Blair—favored to take home the major share of the big purse dangling six and one-half furlongs down the Windsor straightaway.

Nineteen two-year-olds, survivors of an original field of 1,415 juveniles named either before they were foaled or as yearlings, were selected today to start in the forty-fifth running of the race that will net the winner more than $80,000. The youngsters will parade to the post at about 1:30 p.m., C.S.T., before an expected crowd of 30,000.

Although many, including all of the pre-race favorites, have been entered, the race figures to be strictly a contest between E. R. Bradley's Balladier and Boxhorn, Psyche Bid and Special Agent from Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Brookmeyer Stable, split favorites at 2 to 1, and Omaha, of William Woodward's Blair Stud. The others were given only outside chances.

Final Cricket Match Started

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Last cricket match of the season, the four-day fixture between the champion county, Lancashire, and the Rest of England, got under way at the Oval today. ## Schumacher Turns Back Cardinals in Important Series

Giants' Pitcher Twirls One of Best Performances of Season to Increase Team's Lead—Detroit Wins as Yankees Suffer Defeat

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP).—Hal Schumacher picked up the gauntlet St. Louis Cardinals tossed down today and slapped the St. Louis pennant hopes right in the face with a five-hit pitching performance and a home run that lifted New York Giants to a 4-1 victory over their second-place rivals.

The triumph again increased New York's lead to five and one-half games at the halfway point of the crucial series and led serious damage to the Cardinals' prospects making a race of it for the flag. The Giants have only fourteen more games to play and the Cards sixteen.

The big right hander pitched one of his best games of the season as he chalked up victory twenty-two against seven defeats. The only Cardinals' run was unearned and Jim Collins, who scored it, was the only Cardinal player to touch third, getting there twice.

Batteries—Walker, Haines, Carleton and Delaney; Schumacher and Mancuso.

Braves Beat Reds
BOSTON, Sept. 14 (AP).—Fred Frankhouse held Cincinnati Reds to seven scattered hits, today, as Boston won the first game of a series, 4-2.

Batteries—Johnson and Lombard; Frankhouse and Spohrer.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
DETROIT, Sept. 14 (AP).—Three times Detroit Tigers nearly threw away a ball game with Washington, today, as they played as if disgusted by their inability to hit Bob Burke's pitching, but each time they repented their actions and tied the score and finally they won out, 6-4, in the twelfth to increase their lead over the defeated New York Yankees to four and one-half games.

Charley Gehring's home run in the twelfth brought home the winning markers.

Batteries—Burke, McColl and Bolton, Sewell; Fischer, Hogsett and Cochran.

Yanks Are Trounced
CLEVELAND, Sept. 14 (AP).—Cleveland Indians trained their batting eyes on the offerings of four Yankee pitchers, beginning with Charley Ruffing, and blasted out a 12-5 decision over the second-place New Yorkers today.

The defeat dropped the Yanks to four and one-half games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers and ended the current series. Lou Gehrig's forty-sixth home run started a Yankee rally that drove Lefty Thornton Lee out in seventh, but didn't do much damage. Earl Averill socked his twenty-seventh circuit blow.

Batteries—Ruffing, Van Atta, Deshong, Allen and Jorgens; Lee, Harder and Brenzel.

Split Twin Bill
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14 (AP).—The wildness of Buck Newsom, young Brownie right-hander pitcher, started Philadelphia Athletics to victory in the first game of a double-header, today, but Buck came back in the sunset contest and St. Louis Browns won, 5-2.

Newsom walked the first four run batters in the initial contest, won by the visitors, 9-7.

DEATH ON THE DIAMOND

BY CORTLAND FITZSIMMONS

CHAPTER XII

"Sit down, Doyle," Kelly said. "After you were taken out of the game today, what did you do?"

"I walked around a bit, took a drink, and then I went to work on the resentment I felt for being taken out."

"Why did you go near the Chicago dugout?"

"No reason. I wasn't even thinking about where I was going—just walking off. You'd be sure yourself, wouldn't you?"

"I'm asking the questions."

"Well, that was all," Doyle answered and studied the serious faces of the other men. A glance of amused recognition flashed in his eyes as he spotted Terry and said, "I owe you an apology, old man."

"Never mind your personal affairs," Kelly stopped any veering away from the subject. "Did you know Dirkin?"

"Only as a ball player."

"Did you know that he preferred a special bat?"

"I think every ball player and fan knew that," Doyle replied.

"Would you recognize the bat?"

"No."

"Did you see that bat today?"

"I wouldn't know. I wasn't looking for anything when I went over there today; I was just working off steam."

"Where were you when Dirkin fell?"

"On the bench."

"What did you do after he fell?"

"Stayed on the bench."

"Can you prove that?"

"Yes. Shorty Dugan was sitting beside me and we were together all through the excitement. Pop Clark told us to stay where we were, so I stayed," he said with a grin toward Pop.

"Did you see the bat when Dirkin dropped it?"

"I didn't notice. After the smack, I watched the ball as it soared over the field. It was a sure home unless some miracle happened."

"You got your miracle, Dirkin dropped dead," Rawlins, the Chicago manager, said bitterly.

Kelly went to the door and called for Shorty Dugan.

"Where were you," Kelly began when Dugan came in, "when Dirkin went to the bat?"

"I was on the bench next to Doyle."

"Tell me what happened."

"When Dirkin socked it, both Doyle and I rose, watching the ball. You know how it is; you are always afraid of a homer. The next thing I knew Dirkin was down and the crowd was pouring out on to the field. Pop came by and told us to stay where we were, and we stayed together until the game was called off."

"Do you know what happened to the bat Dirkin was using?"

"No. I never even thought about it."

"When did you leave Doyle?"

"We waited until the first excitement was over and then went into the clubhouse together."

"Can you account for Doyle's time since then?"

Shorty considered a moment. "We were taking showers at the same time, and then after we were dressed we all sat around and talked. I guess I can vouch for him."

"It's a lucky break for Doyle. That will be all, Dugan."

After Dugan had gone out, Kelly said to Larry, "You certainly are the alibi kid all right. I never saw anybody get out of a bad-looking fix as easily as you do."

"Perhaps it is because there is no reason why I shouldn't," Larry said and stood up.

"Okay, run along," Kelly dismissed him.

"I don't understand this business about that bat boy Pietro," Pop said. "It's very queer."

"I'd like to get the lowdown on it myself," Kelly said sourly. "And what's more, I'd like to find the bat."

"Mr. Kelly," Terry spoke up, "I'd like to call my paper."

"Nothing doing. You don't tell anything to your paper until I know something myself." Then, after a moment's consideration, Kelly went to the door and said to the policeman on duty, "Call the newspaper boys in if they are still there."

The men from the papers trooped in and their looks directed toward Terry were far from cordial.

"You boys probably want something for your papers," Kelly began. "Dirkin is dead and we think he was poisoned, but we don't know how or by what drug. There is no one under suspicion at present time, but we are working on some leads. If you want to print that, go to it. Anything further will come from Centre Street. That goes for you, too, Burke."

"He's had one scoop on the murder today, anyhow," Reynolds, the Brooklyn reporter, said sullenly; "that ought to be enough."

"Have you got one over on me?" Kelly swung round to Terry.

"No. He's sore because I used my head," Terry replied.

"Look at this," Reynolds pulled a copy of The Star out of his pocket and handed it to Kelly.

"When did this come out?" Kelly asked.

"It was up here about an hour after it happened," Terry said with pride.

"How did you know so much about it?" Kelly demanded.

"It was sort of obvious, wasn't it?" Terry replied.

"None of us knew that he was dead and nobody knew that he had been murdered," Reynolds said.

"Stay here, Burke; you've got some explaining to do. The rest of you clear out."

"Do you mean you're going to hold him, implicate him in the crime?" Mullins asked eagerly, his small eyes glowing.

"I'm keeping him here. I want to know what he knows that you don't. Now get out, all of you."

After they had gone, Kelly said, "Well, Burke?"

"But, Mr. Kelly," Terry started his argument, "what could I know?"

"He told Kelly exactly what had happened and what he did. He offered to call his chief and have it verified."

"You were down at Tony Murallo's the night of the murder, the night Doyle beat you up. What were you doing there?"

"I went there to get something to eat. All the boys go there."

"How much money did you put on the Blues to win?"

"Ten bucks," Terry answered without hesitation.

"Oh, you did. Why?"

"I went there to have a ten-dollar hunch on the Blues when they haven't shown any signs of life until this year and a man had to die for them to win at that?"

"Pop has a good team this year. I've said so from the start."

"That's right," Pop agreed. "The Star is the only paper that has shown any faith in the team this year."

"There's something behind these deaths," Kelly said quickly. "I've even heard of newspapers being sent up in queer things. Something is going on none of us understand or know about and I want to get at the bottom of it. These deaths are not accidents. They were planned."

"Are you trying to say that I had something to do with them?" Terry asked. "You're crazy! You'll be the laughing-stock of the force. I was in the press box when Whitely was killed and you yourself said he was probably shot from the elevated station platform. I wasn't on or near the field today until after Dirkin dropped. How could I have killed him?"

"Then how did you know he was dead?" Kelly asked. "How did you know he was a murder before I knew it? Tell me that. How did you happen to know so much in Boston?"

"How do you get confessions out of people? How do you arrive at results? Do you always know, are you always sure of yourself? Don't you take long shots in the dark sometimes? You do, and you know it. When I saw Dirkin fall, my one thought was for my paper. I've told you what I did and in a few minutes I called back. I was sure Dirkin was dead. I could tell by the way the men and the doctors acted. I just beat the others to the ball, that's all." Terry was worried and because of that made his arguments very convincing.

The other men were silent, realizing the seriousness of Kelly's unstated charge against Kelly. Any further discussion was cut short by the arrival of the officer who had been sent to find Pietro. He told Kelly and in behind him was a tall and very excited Italian who rushed up to Pop and waved his arms with passion and vigor.

"Where's my Pietro?" he asked with dramatic fervor.

"Wait a minute, you!" Kelly stormed. "What's the idea, barging in here like that? Sit down."

The Italian collapsed suddenly into a chair, looking like a cowed bandit. He had a long, wicked-looking moustache which drooped over the corners of his mouth, and his olive skin was crimsoned with excitement.

"What did you learn?" Kelly asked the policeman.

"Well, when I went over there asking for the kid, they all leapt at me. I thought my time had come. All crazy. The kid left for the ball park as usual and hasn't come home yet. They think it is our fault."

"When did Pietro leave?" Kelly asked, turning to the uncle.

"He left the regular time. He's a bat boy. He's a no come home. Where is he?"

"That's what I am trying to find out," Kelly took the note from the officer. "Did Pietro write this?"

"No, Pietro's no sick. He came here."

"Now, listen," Kelly said to the Italian with as much patience as he could muster. "I want you to tell me what Pietro looked like, his age, what he wore, shoes, coat, pants, everything. Understand? I think Pietro is lost and we want to find him for you. Take it down, Burke."

The excited man raced through a long description of Pietro which Kelly typed and handed to Kelly. It wasn't an easy job to get rid of Pietro's uncle, but Kelly accomplished it at last.

Kelly called the Bureau of Missing Persons and gave the description of Pietro and asked to have it sent out immediately.

"It looks bad," he said after he hung up the receiver. "The boy has probably been kidnapped, and the substitute has vanished and taken the bat with him. It's worse than the other one. What did this substitute look like?" he asked Rawlins, the Chicago manager. "Remember as much as you can and I will start a hunt for him, too."

After he had made his second call down town, he turned to Terry. "I don't know what to do about you. I'm inclined to believe you, but remember this. I'm watching you from now on, and don't forget it. You can go ahead."

"Can I call the office and tell them about Pietro?" he asked eagerly.

"I suppose if you were hanging, you'd want to get the report into your paper," Kelly said, smiling in spite of himself.

"It's a beat. The other fellows won't have it."

"Go ahead, and while you're at it, if you might find the bat for me, since you are so good at finding things."

The bat was the last thing in the world that Terry wanted to find or know about. He was uncertain about himself and what might happen to him as it was. As he left, however, he said over his shoulder, "I haven't time, but if I were you, I'd look in the Harlem River."

"That had all the earmarks of a dirty crack," Kelly said, "but it's an idea at that."

He called headquarters and had instructions sent out to the river police to look for a baseball bat in the Harlem.

BLACKFACE TEAM BACK ON MONDAY

Amos 'n' Andy to Resume Broadcasts After Vacations in Widely-Separated Sections

The internationally famous blackface team of Amos 'n' Andy, ready for new exploits after their first vacation in eight years, is coming back to the air lines on Monday, from the Chicago studios of N.B.C. The founders of the Fresh Air Taxiab can will be heard daily, except Saturday and Sunday, from 7 to 7:15 p.m., P.S.T.

Amos 'n' Andy's studio reunion will be the occasion for celebration of the start of their sixth year on N.B.C. They made their network debut with the National Broadcasting Company on August 19, 1929, and since then have appeared before the microphones in 2,956 episodes.

POSTPONE CELEBRATION

The celebration was postponed one month because the comedians were enjoying their vacations in widely separated corners of the globe—Amos (Freeman P. Godsen) hunting and fishing in Alaska, and Andy (Charles J. Correll) visiting picture spots in Europe and England.

Only recently the blackface team thrilled the world with an international broadcast over N.B.C. networks. Amos and Andy exchanged notes on their vacation experiences, separated by a distance of 8,000 miles, the former talking from San Francisco and the latter from London.

As in the past, the nightly episode of Amos 'n' Andy will be heard in the West through N.B.C. stations KGO, KHQ, KOMO, KGW, KFT and KDL.

At the Theatres

JEAN HARLOW IS STAR AT CAPITOL

Plays Leading Role With Franchot Tone in "The Girl From Missouri"

It is not a slap-stick comedy, yet for one scene alone in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "The Girl From Missouri," which opens today at the Capitol Theatre, enough damage was inflicted upon gowns and tuxedos to drive the wardrobe department to despair.

The scene was in the Embassy Club at Palm Beach, and this is what actually happened:

Jean Harlow was wearing one of Adrian's favorite fashion creations. Franchot Tone, according to the scenario, had to tear it. In fact, he tore three of the Adrian creations beyond repair before the scenes were completed.

In retaliation, Miss Harlow was called upon to smear Tone's spic-and-span tuxedo by dashing chocolate ice cream upon it. She did it perfectly, ruining five tuxedos and breaking a dozen ice cream dishes before the final scene.

Pearls, too, felt the wrath of a gentleman scorned. It was Tone's duty to rip a necklace of pearls from Jean's lovely throat. Before Director Jack Conway was satisfied, seven necklaces had been annihilated.

COLUMBIA Author Zane Grey's THEATRE fifty-odd novels, among them "The Mysterious Rider," the film version of which has been produced by Paramount, and now at the Columbia Theatre, have an annual sale of approximately 2,500,000 with an all-time record sale of 16,000,000. Harold Bell Wright is said to be the only other contemporary writer who rivals Zane Grey in this respect.

EMPIRE A large first-night audience laughed and applauded and thoroughly enjoyed "The Penthouse Follies," which opened its Victoria engagement at the Empire Theatre, yesterday, fresh from triumphs in leading cities of the United States. One of the leading attractions is the orchestra, known as "The Manhattan Serenaders." This band is fast and lively, and plays a number of novelty pieces as well as several of the latest dance hits from New York and Chicago. The entire show goes with a swing. There is not a dull moment from rise of curtain to the final drop.

PLAYHOUSE Irving Pichel and Frank Conroy, playing opposing attorneys in "Such Women Are Dangerous," the Fox Film production featuring Warner Baxter, Rosemary Ames, Rochelle Hudson and other notables, are getting famous for their courtroom scenes. They've been opposing lawyers in three films. The picture is now at the Playhouse Theatre.

DOMINION Harold Lloyd, beginning with "The Cat's Paw," now playing at the Dominion Theatre, will go in more for story characterizations than for gag comedies. This does not mean the abandonment of his main purpose, the creation of laughs, for in "The Cat's Paw" there

MIDNIGHT MATINEE AT EMPIRE FOR WEEK-END

A number of entertaining and modern numbers will be introduced to a Victoria audience at the special midnight matinee which will be presented at the Empire Theatre at one minute past midnight Sunday by "The Penthouse Follies."

This show will be quite different to the ones being presented this week-end at the regular times. There will be different dances, new stories and jokes and a number of novel surprises for the audience. That Victoria takes kindly to midnight matinees was proved last week-end when a large audience turned out and gave a warm welcome to "The Chicago Follies."

ALAN KING SINGER AT BELMONT CABARET

Alan King will headline the floor acts for tonight's show in conjunction with the regular Saturday dance at the Belmont Cabaret. Mr. King will sing the number he performed on Wednesday, and will appear at 10:30 o'clock.

Wife Preservers

An invalid will find it convenient to have spoons of thread, cotton and silk, needlebook, scissors and other sewing equipment strung on a gayly colored ribbon. The ribbon is readily seen, and all these little articles, which are so easily misplaced in the bedclothes, may be brought to hand with one pull of the ribbon.

WOMEN'S GOLF BILLED TODAY

British and Canadian Teams to Meet in International Match

TORONTO, Sept. 14 (CP).—Their game primed to perfection, golfing queens of two nations awaited the morrow for the starter's signal which will send them out on "the Toronto Golf Club battleground" to vie for international supremacy—the British-Canadian women's team match.

Sixteen bluebloods of the links, eight from each country, have been selected for the test, which for the first time will bring together the cream of the women's golfing ranks from the Mother Country and Dominion in international team competition.

Twelve matches, four two-ball foursomes and eight singles, will comprise the programme.

The pairings follow: Molly Gourlay and Pamela Batton, England, vs. Mrs. W. G. Fraser, Ottawa, and Margery Kirkham, of Montreal.

Diana Fishwick and Wanda Morgan, vs. Ada McKenzie, Toronto, and the brilliant Mrs. Vera Ford, Vancouver, B.C.

Mrs. George Coates and Diana Plumptre, vs. Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, Toronto, and Mrs. R. H. Horne, Edmonton, Alta.

Mrs. J. B. Walker and Doris Chambers, vs. Mrs. J. Dagenais, Montreal, and Mrs. E. W. Whittington, Toronto.

Single pairings produce two "naturals" in matches between Miss Fishwick, British open champion in 1930, and Miss McKenzie, and between Mrs. Ford and the seventeen-year-old sensation, Pamela Barton, present holder of the French title and runner-up this year in the British open.

Other matches: Miss Doris Chambers, captain of the visiting team, vs. Mrs. Whittington; Molly Gourlay vs. Mrs. Fraser; Wanda Morgan vs. Margery Kirkham; Diana Plumptre vs. Mrs. Mulqueen; Mrs. Walker vs. Mrs. Horne; Mrs. Coates vs. Mrs. Dagenais.

Doctor: "Ah, Mrs. Higgins, and how is your husband today?" Mrs. Higgins: "Gretin" along grand, doctor. Why, 'e tried to 'it me this mornin'."

Save the Pieces

By HANNAH
A whole recreation room planned and executed just because a belittling male bet I couldn't find a use for old broom handles. Of course, there are lots of uses for them, but they fit in splendidly with the recreation room I planned for a friend who wanted all the fun of a downtown.

stairs playroom without building a new house.

She had the usual stone foundation basement with its whitewashed walls, but she had the advantage of having one rather large room partitioned off. First a warm light cream or white paint was put over the stone and the wood walls, and the floor was painted a rather light blue. This made a nice background for the peasant rods, yellows and blues which were then used on the furnishings. The painting was done this month while the family was out of town, so that the room will be ready for use in the Fall when one wants an indoor recreation spot.

The shallow basement windows, always gloomy looking things, were brightened with oilcloth curtains, cut in scallops as shown. An old chest of drawers, or lower part of an old bureau, was painted bright red with peasant designs in yellow and blue. This was used to store the games, cards, pencils, and other game-room necessities. To add color and conceal wall pipes, a large colored poster was hung on one wall.

On one of the wooden walls a ring toss game was made, nails or wooden pegs being used, and the points painted neatly in their places. Mason jar rings are used for the rings.

And now for the broom handles. They make the cue used in a shuffle board game. The shuffle board layout, as shown at the left, is painted right on the floor in black or white. It should be about five or six feet, and the numbers as indicated. It should be placed at one end of the room, leaving as much space as possible for the distance to the starting line, and at least a little space so that the disc can go out of bounds on the far side. The disc is just a round piece of wood about two inches thick and smoothed off. A piece of wood curved to fit around the disc is fastened to the broom handle—and there you have a home-made shuffle board game.

MANUSH, TERRY DROP GROUND

Detroit and Giant Batsmen Lose Three Points Each in Batting Race

Not one of the Big Six could improve his batting average, yesterday, but Charley Gehring managed to restrict his loss to one point to break a tie with Heinie Manush and gain an unchallenged hold on third place. Gehring hit once in five times up, while Manush couldn't connect in the same number of attempts. Heinie lost three points. Bill Terry also suffered a three-point loss as he made four fruitless trips to the plate. Lou Gehrig made the best showing, holding his mark at .362 with two hits in five tries.

EMU Wines were famous in the Old Country in the days of Queen Victoria—and the crinoline.

The EMU Company was established as far back as 1868, a year after Confederation took place in Canada.

With a tradition of over 65 years and as the largest exporters of wine from Australia, we are unusually particular about the quality of the wines we market.

EMU 444 and EMU 999—White and Tawny Port—are wines of outstanding merit. And being a product of Empire they receive a tariff preference when entering Canada, which explains why they cost you much less than Foreign Port of equal quality.

Virginia Vane Says:

JILTED BOY MUST HAVE SELF-CONFIDENCE RESTORED

Dear Virginia Vane: Our only son, twenty-eight years of age, has been disappointed in love, and as a result is losing all interest in life. For six months he has hardly eaten or slept, takes no interest in his work and is in danger of losing his job.

He admits that the girl in the case could never have made him happy, yet he goes on brooding about it all and refuses to meet people or to take any interest in normal occupations. Some time ago you had a somewhat similar problem from another worried mother. You advised her to send the boy away on a trip. We could not do this for our son, and also his feelings are different from those of the other love victim. My son had no reason to complain of the girl's treatment of him. She acted fairly and wisely, and there is nothing to be said against her. Why, therefore, should he act as though the end of the world had come? He has not been cruelly deceived or disappointed. Can you explain his attitude and so show me how to help him?—Another Mother.

My guess is that the boy is not so much suffering from disappointment as from the blow to his self-confidence. Perhaps he always lacked that valuable quality—to a certain extent, so that this upset of his romance has crushed his self-esteem completely.

A great many young men who have never been over-popular with women take a love affair very much as a sop to their vanity. The rather self-deprecatory boy is made to feel a fine figure of a man when some girl admits that she loves him. Her affection and respect for him cause him to think highly of himself—to approach life with a more confident bearing.

And when the romance crashes to earth and the admiring lady admits that she can live without her devoted slave, the poor slave promptly loses his newly acquired confidence. Because he has built so much on one girl's belief in him—because he has allowed himself to be warmed and comforted by the knowledge that one human being chose him out of all others for her special companion—he is utterly cast down over a perfectly everyday matter like the breaking of an engagement.

That's why he can't work well at the office. His faith in himself is gone. He imagines that, just as he has failed at love, so he must necessarily fail at everything else. He never did believe in himself much anyway, and with the ruin of his romantic hopes comes complete disbelief in his own capabilities.

The boy who finds himself in such a fix needs a lot of good, wholesome back-patting from the people who love him. No sticky sympathy will give him back his own self-respect. No tears, no friendly advice will woo him away from his self-contempt.

No, he must be put on his feet again with a little bracing admiration. His interest in his work must be revived with tactful intimations that anybody so capable as he has proved himself to be must go steadily on to the success that inevitably waits for him.

And it wouldn't do any harm to suggest that he take up sports again in earnest, not as a remedy for his unhealthy frame of mind, but because so and so has said how good he was at tennis or golf and what a pleasure it was to play with him.

I am not asking you to play tricks on your boy, mother. I am urging you to bring out this strength of character by reminding him of the qualities and accomplishments which you know he has and of which he could make good use now.

In other words, don't remind him with kindly sympathy and well-meant adjurations to forget his fickle love—that he is a jilted man. Keep that subject out of the conversation for a while. Give him other things to think about, and take care that you keep him well in the centre of the stage for a while. Turn the spotlight on him and make him feel that he is, after all, a person of some importance, even though his best girl has turned him down.

Ask his father to do the same. His friends also can be of great help if they will. All he needs is to gain back some of his lost confidence in himself. And his family and friends can encourage him by refusing to let it be even hinted that he has been seriously defeated.

Dear Virginia Vane: I read your article the other day about the wives who demand an eye for an eye and an unhappy home in return for a husband's infidelity.

I want to say that I thought the advice you gave was splendid. How much misery could be avoided if a woman would forget to be a mass of wounded vanity and would be truly a woman when she discovered that her husband had committed a fatal error.

I am one of those husbands you wrote about. I can honestly say I was a victim of my own weakness—not a philanderer prowling around in search of trouble.

My little love affair started because I was lonely and worried for myself. The girl in the case was determined and very much more sophisticated than I. She at no time took the situation as seriously as I did.

It meant nothing to her when my wife found out the truth and broke up our home because of it. It meant everything to me. I found out in a short space of time that I had allowed myself to be enticed into a cheap entanglement which could never mean anything to me and which had effectively ruined my life's happiness.

Now my wife is an unhappy woman and I am a lonely man. Her pride will never permit us to come together again. Because I still have faith in human nature and want to see others happy, I am asking wives, through your column, to give their erring husband one more chance. It always pays.—Grass Widower.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"How," inquires a reader, "do we get the expression 'hair-brained' and how did it come to refer to someone wild or giddy?"

Answering this double-barrelled query, "hair-brained" is a natural corruption of "hare-brained," which was its original spelling.

In this form, logically enough, "hare-brained" referred to a person who figuratively speaking had about as much brains and intelligence as a hare—and who, therefore, was possessed of its general irresponsibility and mad habits.

In this sense, the word was used as early as 1576 by George Gascoigne in "The Steel Glass."

Disraeli also used it in a speech in Guildhall, London, in which he made mention of "The hare-brained chatter of irresponsible frivolity."

"What does the prisoner say?" asked the magistrate.

"He says he is totally innocent," replied the court interpreter.

The magistrate grunted.

"What language does the prisoner speak?" he asked.

The interpreter shrugged his shoulders.

"I couldn't say, Your Honor," he replied. "It is the first time I've ever heard it."

CELEBRATING ANNIVERSARY

Dr. W. F. Drysdale Recounts Experiences of Early Days in Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Sept. 14.—It is forty years today since Dr. W. F. Drysdale, city medical health officer since 1901, landed at Nanaimo on the old Ss. Coquiltam, after a three and a-half hour trip from Vancouver. Today a ferry crosses the gulf in two hours.

During his practice in Nanaimo 9,016 babies have been registered in his record book, many of whom were born to Indian mothers. A graduate of McGill Medical College, Montreal, Dr. Drysdale first practised in the Montreal General Hospital before he accepted a position as assistant to Dr. R. E. McKechnie, now of Vancouver, who was the miners' doctor here at that time.

It so happens that the doctor landed on a Saturday night and a bright moon was shining. It looked twice the size of the old moon he had left in Ontario. His greatest shock came on the following day, which was the opening of the hunting season, when men shouldered guns to hunt deer. He had never known of anyone hunting on Sunday in Perth, Ontario, where he was raised. He recalls asking the police if the practice could be stopped, and received for an answer, a "smile."

REFERRED LACROSSE
Active in sporting circles in his youth, Dr. Drysdale has referred lacrosse games in different parts of British Columbia, and was a member of the Perth intermediate lacrosse team, who were Dominion champions for nine years. He played third defence. Turnbull, of the famous New Westminster team, and old Johnny Powers, were also members of the Perth team at that time.

As Indian doctor of this district for the past forty years, Dr. Drysdale states he has never found a case of gonorrhea among local Indians. He believes it due to the fact that the Indians and their ancestors lived principally on sea foods. He thinks the time will come when more of the white man's diseases will be prevalent among Indians, as they are making a persistent effort to imitate their white brother's diet.

He has a large practice among Japanese and has failed to find one case of gonorrhea, due to the same reason. In his opinion, he says the local reserves today are in a very healthy state, free from active cases of tuberculosis or pneumonia, which were very prevalent at one time. The old epidemics of diphtheria were obliterated with the introduction of serum. Trachoma, an infectious eye trouble, frequently appears among the red men, but is easily controlled.

ORGANIZED CHOIR

Dr. Drysdale was instrumental in organizing the first male voice choir in Nanaimo. It had eighty-four voices. After hearing the Mainland choir competing at that time, the local choir decided to contest the Pacific Coast championship, which they won with fifty voices in 1912, when Evan Miles, now of Vancouver, was their conductor.

He sang in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church choir for a quarter of a century, and his wife, Mrs. Drysdale, a soprano, has thirty-five years' service to her credit in the same choir, which is now that of the United Church. Dr. Drysdale will be sixty-five years of age in October and is the proud grandfather of two infant children, Allan Drysdale Holiday and William George Holiday, who with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Holiday, of Carthage, Mo., U.S.A., are his guests at the present time.

HOME MISSIONS ARE DISCUSSED

Secretary of United Church Board Pleads That Services Be Unimpaired

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 14 (CP).—A challenge to the church to maintain unimpaired its great services in the home mission field was thrown out by Rev. R. B. Cochrane, D.D., secretary of the Board of Home Missions, in presenting his report at the sixth biennial General Council of the United Church of Canada, today.

Earlier in the day the commissioners heard Rev. Robert Laird, D.D., general treasurer, present the financial statement for the past year and express the hope that last year's deficit would be turned to a surplus at the end of 1934.

TREMENDOUS SACRIFICES
Dr. Cochrane, in presenting his report, gave statistics showing how missionary workers and ministers in the dried-out areas and the newly-settled districts of the West were making tremendous sacrifices in continuing their work.

"God brought the United Church into being ten years ago for such a time as this," he declared. "It is a scandal that a wealthy church such as ours should require workers to carry on with a miserable pittance."

A "PAW" CAT

TROY, O.—D. J. Orisko's cat may not have nine lives, but it has four front paws and an extra toe on each back foot. Superbly equipped, the cat is an excellent ratter and tree-climber. Its feet, pure snow white, give the animal the appearance of wearing white gloves and shoes. The feline was one of a litter in which all other siblings were normal.

Little Bedtime Stories

Sammy Is Glad He Sat Up All Night

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Sammy Jay was having no trouble in keeping awake now. Not a bit. He couldn't have gone to sleep if he wanted to—not since Hooty the Owl had frightened him almost out of his skin with his fierce, hungry hunting call. He was too frightened and shivery and creepy to sleep. But he didn't want to go to bed, because, you know, he meant to sit up wide awake all night and then see if any of the little meadow and forest people would say that he screamed in the night. If they did he would know then that they were just trying to tease him by saying such things, because he meant to keep his mouth closed as tight as a nut and not make a single sound.

So he sat in the thickest part of the big pine tree, shivering and creepy and miserable. He heard Bobby Coon go down the Lone Little Path on his way to Farmer Brown's cornfield where the corn was just beginning to get milky and sweet. Out in a patch of bright moonlight he saw Peter Rabbit jumping and dancing and having the greatest kind of a time all by himself. Pretty soon Peter was joined by his cousin Jumper the Hare. Such antics as they did cut up. Sammy Jay almost laughed aloud as he watched. It was less lonely with them there, and he did want to call to them dreadfully. But that would never do, for no one must know that he was sitting up awake all night.

By and by along came Jimmy Skunk, walking out into the path of bright moonlight. He touched noses with Peter Rabbit and Jumper the Hare, which is one way of saying "Good evening" in the Green Forest.

"Isn't it most time for Sammy Jay to scream in his sleep?" asked Peter Rabbit. Sammy pricked up his ears.

Sure enough, there was Sammy Jay's voice

way. It serves 'em right if they do get waked up," replied Jimmy Skunk.

"But Sammy Jay says that he doesn't know anything about it," said Peter Rabbit. "Have you ever seen him scream in the night, Jimmy Skunk?"

"No, I don't have to," replied Jimmy Skunk. "I guess I know his voice when I hear it, and I've heard it enough times the last few nights, goodness knows. Tell me this, Peter Rabbit, who else is there that cries 'Thief! Thief! Thief!' and screams like Sammy Jay?"

Peter shook his head. "I guess you're right," he said.

"Of course I'm right. There now," Jimmy held up one hand to warn Peter to keep still. Sure enough, there was Sammy Jay's voice way over in the alders, beside the Laughing Brook, and it was screaming "Thief! Thief! Thief!"

"They all heard it. Sammy heard it, too, and scratched himself to be sure that he was awake and sitting there in the big pine tree."

"It's my voice and it isn't my voice, for I haven't made a sound, and it's over in the alders while I'm here in my own big pine tree," muttered Sammy Jay to himself. "I'm glad I kept awake, but—"

Maybe I'm going crazy. My wits are all so hazy. That's surely me—

Oh, dear, I sure am crazy.
